THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

VOL. XXI. ATLANTA, GEORGIA, SATURDAY MORNING, AUGUST 4, 1888. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

TWO MEMBERS TALK.

Virginia Claimed by Republicans, Iowa by Democrats.

THE PRESIDENT INVITED TO AUGUSTA

But it is Hardly Likely that He Can Accept—Congressman Scott Is Ill—Washington Notes.

WASHINGTON, August 3.—[Special.]—Major Barnes, accompanied by Senators Brown, Colquitt, Hampton and Butler, called upon the president this morning and extended to him, Mrs. Cleveland and his cabinet, an invitatton to visit the Augusta exposition at any time during its continuation between October 10th and November 17th.

Mr. Cleveland said he was confident he would enjoy the visit, and that he would consider the invitation and give an answer later. He, however, feared that congress would be in session until very late and his duties would prevent his acceptance. He also said he had visited Georgia on one occasion and that there were other states he should visit before again accepting an invitation to Georgia.

Major Barnes thinks if congress should adjourn during the early portion of September, the president could be persuaded to go. However, this is very doubtful, and the chances are very much against his acceptance.

CONGRESSMAN SCOTT ILL.

Congressman Scott is quite ill at Long Branch. His physicians declare he must have a complete rest for some time to come, and it is doubtful if he will be of any service to the campaign committee for a month.

A VIRGINIAN INTERVIEWED.

Representative Yost, republican, of Virginia, submitted to an interview in the Star this afternoon on the political outlook in his state, in which he said that "local issues and personalities will be disregarded, differences will be left over for settlement in an off year, and the republican party will be united. With this I feel confident that we shall carry the state."

However, the democratic members from Virginia say this is all talk; that the democrats will not only carry the state, but will win in a majority of the congressional districts. Mr. Yost will probably be one of the republican members turned down, as Mr. Henry Tucker, the son of ex-Congressman John Randolph Tucker, has been nominated by the democrats of his district. Mr. Tucker is very popular in the district, and the democrats are confident of his election.

AN IOWAN TALKS.

Representative Hayes, of Iowa, said today: "The republicans of my state are becoming alarmed at the growing strength of the prohibition party, and if the disaffection keeps up nothing can prevent the state from going over to the democracy."

"But do you believe the democrats can carry Iowa?" was asked.

"I do not believe in boasting," Mr. Hayes said, "but I will say that our prospects are very, very bright. The success of the democracy depends a good deal on the strength of the prohibition vote, and I can say, without bragging, that the outlook is flattering, indeed."

SENATORIAL DIGNITY.

The judiciary committee has reported favorably the bill to establish a federal court in Johnson City, Tenn. The bill for a federal court in Augusta, which passed the house some months ago, is yet in the hands of the senate judiciary committee and remains unacted upon. It will probably be reported favorably if the committee can ever be induced to consider it.

This committee, of which Senator Edmunds is chairman, is very slow in its work, considering it a violation to dignity to hurry the consideration of any bill, consequently the Augusta one is apt to remain shelved for some time yet, probably until next session.

Dr. J. D. Martin and Mr. Lewis Cass, of Savannah, are here. E. W. B.

IN THE SENATE.

Mr. Teller Works in the Usual Republican Rot as Argument.

WASHINGTON, August 3.—Mr. Cullom offered a resolution instructing the committee on interstate commerce to make a full investigation into the relations of the Canadian railroads with transportation across the continent of commerce which naturally belongs to the United States, and he made a long speech to show how, by aids and subsidies granted by the British and Canadian governments to railroads and steamships, Canadian lines are obtaining control of commerce and especially of transportation of tea, 42 per cent of the tea business being now carried on through Canada.

Mr. Gorman supported the resolution, declaring that it was time the senators joined, irrespective of party, in wresting the trade of the United States from aliens who, by means of subsidized [corporations, were absorbing it. He said that the leading citizens of the United States, men of influence and power in shaping national affairs, some of whom were candidates for high office, are lending their efforts, as they had a perfect legal right to do, to the promotion of the Canadian railroad scheme. He read a list of officers and directors of one of the roads, which, he said, is designed to receive a part of the bounty paid by the British government, among the names being that of Levi P. Morton, of New York, and Wm. L. Scott, of Erie, Pennsylvania.

The discussion of Cullom's resolution took a somewhat political and somewhat personal turn, particularly in the remarks of Messrs. Gorman and Edmunds. Finally the discussion came to a close, and the resolution was adopted without division.

The resolution of yesterday by Mr. Hoar, fixing the hour of daily meeting at 11 a. m., was taken up and adopted. Yeas 24, nays 23, a party vote; and a resolution, offered by Mr. Gray, that when the house adjourn today it be till Monday, was also adopted. Yeas, 21; nays, 19.

THE FISHERIES TREATY.

The senate then proceeded to a consideration of the fisheries treaty in open executive session, and was addressed by Mr. Teller in opposition to its ratification. He quoted largely from the speeches of Mr. Morgan, at the present and previous session, to show inconsistencies on the part of that senator, and defended the majority of the committee on general affairs from the attack made yesterday by Mr. Morgan, in connection with the closing paragraph expressing the hope as to the course to be pursued by the British government. As to the remark made yesterday by Mr. Morgan that the senators of the democratic side—two-thirds of them men who had been confederates—were patriots, while the republican senators were partisans, Mr. Teller said that would not fool anybody. That had been heard before the war and since the war. The great American heart lay in the north. It was that great American heart that had been touched when Sumter was fired on. It was that great American heart that had endured all the hardships and burdens of the war, and that had brought those people (the confederates) back. They would be welcome to all that the northern men claimed for themselves, but they must not claim that they had more virtue, more patriotism, more love of American manhood and American integrity and American glory than the republican senators had.

Mr. Vance obtained the floor, and the senate resumed legislative business.

IN THE HOUSE.

The French Spoliation Claims Occupying Considerable Attention.

WASHINGTON, August 3.—The speaker laid before the house a letter from Governor Green, of New Jersey, presenting to congress in the name of New Jersey, the statues of Richard Stockton and Philip Kearney, to be placed in the statuary hall in the capitol.

On motion of Mr. Phelps, of New Jersey, a resolution was adopted assigning Tuesday, August 21, for the consideration of the concurrent resolution accepting statues and returning thanks to the state of New Jersey therefor.

THE DEFICIENCY BILL.

The private business having been dispensed with, the house went into a committee of the whole (Mr. Springer, of Illinois, in the chair) on the deficiency appropriation bill.

Mr. Laird, of Nebraska, offered an amendment appropriating $1,300,000 to pay the arrears of soldiers' bounties and back pay. After debate the chairman ruled that the amendment was not in order.

The

section of the bill having been reached, the chairman stated that according to a previous agreement the general debate would be allowed for nine hours. A dispute arore as to the procedure of the discussion, Mr. Long, of Massachusetts, and Mr. Dibble, of South Carolina, claiming for the friends of the section the right to open and close the debate, while Mr. Burnes, of Missouri, who reported and has the management of the bill, contended that, although he was opposed to the section, he had a right to control the method of debate.

The chair finally decided that the right to open and close rested with the advocates of the section and recognized Mr. Long, of Massachusetts, who declared the question presented was neither political nor sectional in its character. It was not political because it was founded on a just claim which was older than either of the existing political parties; it was not sectional, because the money involved was due to men who lived all along the original coast of the thirteen colonies. Passing over in a brief review the former legislation in regard to these claims, he contended that whatever excuse had hitherto existed for delaying their payment, existed no longer in view of the fact that the judicial tribunal of the government's own selection had, as a conclusion alike of fact and of law, declared their validity and the government's indebtedness. Not to pay them would be a simple repudiation—outrageous and scandalous repudiation.

Mr. Rogers, of Arkansas, argued that in the cases of French spoliation claims, decided by court of claims, there should be a right of appeal to the United States supreme court. Before he was called upon to cast his vote for $30,000,000 or $7,000,000 of the public money, he wanted final judgment of the court of last resort.

Mr. Rayner, of Maryland, said that it would be shame and an outrage to reopen these cases and send them to the supreme court. It would be fifty years in the usual course of judicial procedure, before the claims would be determined and another generation would pass away before its rights were adjudicated.

Mr. Dingley, of Maine, was surprised that an effort should be made to defeat the measure providing for the payment of claims which the court of claims had adjudged to be just and proper.

Pending further discussion, the committee rose. At the evening session the house passed a number of private pension bills.

THE BRUNSWICK COMPANY.

Its Stock Listed On 'Change—The Great Work of Development.

NEW YORK, August 3.—[Special.]—The Brunswick company is a corporation organized under the laws of Georgia for development of the seaport facilities and other great natural advantages of Brunswick. The capital stock is $5,000,000.

Since its organization, the company has made very great improvements at Brunswick, such as the establishment of street railroads, the erection of two magnificent hotels, and several other things of like importance. The company has bought and acquired extensive real estate property in around Brunswick, together with vast water frontages, all of which is said to be very valuable. Its stock is owned principally by New York and Boston capitalists, who are very enthusiastic over the enterprise. The par value of the stock is $100 per share. There were no dealings in it today owing to the fact that it was not generally known that it had been listed on the exchange until after the market closed. Insiders say it will probably open at about eleven or twelve dollars per share, and they predict much higher figues for it in the near future.

This company inaugurates a new era in the history of Brunswick and opens up great possibilities for its future. It is another one of those innumerable enterprises which have been organized during the last five years for the development of the "New South." The invaluable resources of the south are coming to be more and more appreciated every day, and capital is flowing freely to that field for investment. M. J. V.

FOR TWO MILLION DOLLARS.

The Sheffield Land, Iron and Coal Company Sells Out.

SHEFFIELD, Ala., August 3.—[Special.]—Everybody in Sheffield is happy. The directors of the Sheffield Land, Iron and Coal company met here this afternoon, and unanimously agreed to accept the proposition of eastern capitalists to buy out the entire assets of the company.

The price agreed upon is understood to be about two million dollars.

A circular letter will be issued to the stockholders tomorrow, explaining the details of the trade. The negotiations have been conducted quietly and expeditiously for a trade of such magnitude. Thousands of dollars worth of property here has been sold in the last few days at fine prices.

It is understood that the purchasers are men of large means, and will at once commence work on a grand scale. Those men who have shown faith in Sheffield by holding their stock are to be congratulated. The magnitude of this trade will give an impetus to trade in all north Alabama.

SHERIDAN'S CONDITION.

No Perceptible Change—Reading Proofs of His Book.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., August 3.—There are rumors at Nonquitt that there is some change in General Sheridan's condition. He seems to have reached the stage in his convalescence where no change can be perceived in forty-eight hours, or even in twice that period. As far as can be ascertained the improvement has been made during the first eighteen days at Nonquitt and since then there has been hardly any perceptible alteration.

He has become used to the routine of the sick room, and it fatigues much less than previously. He reads proofs of his book every day, and sees children in the evening.

Dr. Pepper will probably arrive Saturday. That there is any special reason for his coming is denied. He simply saw Sheridan at his worst in Washington, saw him at Lewes a month later, and now, when on his way to Bar Harbor to see a patient there is a convenient opportunity to visit Nonquitt. So say the physicians.

Deaths in Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., August 3.—The extreme hot weather prevailing here the past week has proven very fatal to out-of-door laborers. On Wednesday no less than four persons were so overcome by the heat that they died before morning.

SEVENTEEN ARE DEAD

And there are Other Victims of a New York Fire.

A BOWERY TENEMENT DESTROYED.

The Frightful Loss of Life—The Means of Exit all Shut Off—Touching Incidents.

NEW YORK, August 3.—Thirteen people were burned to death in a six-story brick building in the rear of No. 197 Bowery, this afternoon, and two others were killed by leaping from the windows of the upper stories of the building. Six more, burned so badly that they will probably die, were removed to various hospitals.

The house was a ramshackle, hidden in the middle of a block, the only entrance to it being by a narrow alleyway from the Bowery. In front of it was a four-story building, on the first floor of which was the saloon called "The White Elephant." Adjoining this is Harry Miner's People's theater. In the rear of the burned building were two houses hemming it in on the Chrystie street side.

In this caged-in building there lived about one hundred and fifty people. Each of the six floors was occupied by a single family, the head of which was a tailor, who made clothing for the cheap wholesale clothing houses, and employed from fifteen to twenty men, women and children, in addition to his own family, in making up the clothing. They were all Polish Jews and employers and employed worked, ate and slept in the crowded rooms of the dingy tenement.

About 4:15 o'clock this afternoon, while all the occupants of the building were busily at work in the closing hours preceding their Sabbath evening, flames broke out on the lower floor. It had already gained such headway that it was in full possession of the stairway, and escape by it was impossible. Most of the frightened inmates, however, rushed down through the flames and escaped to a narrow courtyard with clothes ablaze and hands, faces and bodies burned. Six of them were so severely burned that they were taken to the hospital and may die.

There were fire escapes on the house, perpendicular iron ladders running down the front and rear of the building, but before any of the inmates had tried to escape by them, the flames had ascended through the house and were rushing from the windows so that descent by fire escapes was impossible.

Several of the bodies were burned so badly that they fell apart when moved, and were unrecognizable. The firemen were obliged to lower them from the windows in nets. The fire started on the first floor in the apartments of the janitress of the building and was caused by the explosion of a kerosene oil stove. The financial damage is about $25,000; well insured.

Deaths in the hospital have increased the number of fatalities seventeen, and several persons are missing. One of the most pitiful incidents of the terrible calamity was the death of Mrs. Gruft. In the awful panic she gave birth to a child, and the mother and babe were burned to a crisp. Her two small children, aged seven and four, were victims by her side, while the father and one child escaped.

A Village Destroyed.

OTTAWA, Ont., August 3.—Bush fires are still raging in the surrounding district, causing an immense damage. It is reported that the small village of Eureka, near Bear Brook, on the Canada Atlantic railway and about twenty miles from Ottawa, has been burned to the ground. The village comprised a saw mill, some two or three stores and several houses.

An Ohio Town Destroyed.

TOLEDO, Ohio, August 3.—West Unity, a small town near here, was almost swept out of existence last night by fire. Thirteen stores were totally destroyed. The loss is from $75,000 to $100,000. The heaviest losers are Levy & Smith, dry goods; Adam Goscher, clothing; Lee & Charter, hardware.

THE CLUVERIUS CASE.

Murderer Maxwell, of St. Louis, Objects to Mr. Bishop's Comparison.

ST. LOUIS, August 3.—Maxwell, the murderer of Preller, objects to Mr. Bishop's comparison of his case with that of Cluverius, and says the only point of similarity between the two cases are that the evidence was circumstantial and that one of the justices of the Virginia court dissented. He continues: "I do not remember reading in any paper that the Virginia officials resorted to any 'Dingfelder plot' upon the ground that without it the evidence was not sufficient to convict the defendant, as the assistant circuit attorney did in my case; that the Virginia officials refused in open court to regard any and all rights the defendant had; that they held in their possession evidence that would or might have benfitted the defendant, but which they refused to allow the defendant to place before the jury upon the ground that it was in their possession; or, in fact, resorted to any of the unfair, nay, unlawful methods, or to crime itself, to convict Cluverius."

"A careful and critical examination shows that there is very little similarity, indeed, in the two cases, and in fact, the wrongdoing of the circuit attorneys, of which I complain and for which I ask relief, did not exist in the case of Cluverius at all. I do not object to Mr. Bishop or any one else fairly discussing my case, but I do object to Mr. Bishop, or, in fact any one, stating that my case is similar to others, when the facts and grounds upon which I asked relief do not exist in the other case. When Mr. Bishop states that I have been using Judge Sherwood's dissenting opinion as my main weapon, he misrepresents facts with which he is or ought to be better acquainted. The main weapon I used was the unfairness and wrongdoing—nay, crimes—of his office, which were so clearly and boldly set forth in Judge Sherwood's dissenting opinion, and which were disapproved and condemned by the majority opinion of the supreme court, but for which the law provides no remedy."

IT WAS MAXWELL'S FATHER

Who Interested the British Government in His Son's Behalf.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., August 3.—When the news reached here this morning that the British government had requested a further respite for Hugh M. Brooks, better known as Maxwell, on the ground that both the murderer and his victim were British subjects, it created no little surprise, though some new movement has been looked for.

Governor Moorehouse has received a mere formal telegraphic notice that papers have been forwarded by mail, and does not know what action he will take. John J. Martin, one of Maxwell's attorneys, says the request for respite was secured through the efforts of Maxwell's father with Lord Salisbury, and claims that new corroborative testimony has been developed which will save Maxwell from the gallows. He is confident the governor will grant the respite.

The district attorney is not surprised, and thinks it probable that a brief respite may be granted. He is firmly convinced, however, that Maxwell will eventually hang.

Killed His Mother.

HORICON, Wis., August 3.—News reached here today of a bloody tragedy a few miles from this city yesterday. George Townsend, who lives about three and one-half miles southwest of Randolph, on the dividing line of Dodge and Columbia counties, came home drunk and commenced to abuse his mother.

His brother Emery told him to desist several times, but George paid no attention to him, and fearing that his brother would kill his mother, Emery secured a revolver and shot four bullets into him. Townsend is well known in Dodge county. It is thought he will recover. Emery went to Cambria and gave himself up.

THAT GOODY GOODY MAN.

Eloper Ellis is Caught and Caged at Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., August 3.—[Special.]—A. H. Ellis, a dapper young man twenty-eight years old, formerly a Young Men's Christian association young man of Birmingham, was arraigned before Recorder Bell today on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, and waiving an examining trial was sent to jail in default of bail in the sum of $1,000.

Ellis went to Birmingham during the boom and was a goody goody young man for quite a while, but later developed into a sporting editor of the Birmingham Herald, and finally, after having various charges of crookedness laid to his door, capped the climax by running away with the wife of Arthur Gambell, a co-worker in the Y. M. C. A. cause.

The guilty pair took in Nashville on their flight, and while here two weeks Ellis took in a Nashville man to the tune of $50, inducing him by false representations to indorse a draft drawn on his father at Oberlin, Ohio.

Last Tuesday notice was received of the whereabouts of Ellis and his paramour in Cincinnati, and the chief of police was wired to arrest him. Ellis agreed to return without the requisition, and today Detective Sidebottom arrived with him. The woman whom he run away from Birmingham with was left in Cincinnati.

VINCENT WILL CONFESS.

He Will Tell the Story of His Crime and of Those Benefitted by it.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., August 3.—[Special.]—Ike H. Vincent, ex-state treasurer, who is serving a fifteen-year sentence for stealing $22,000 from the state, is going to make a confession.

Since Vincent's flight and the discovery of his shortage, four years ago, it has been suspected that others were implicated in the affair and received a considerable amount of the stolen money. When Vincent was captured in Texas and brought back to Montgomery, all sorts of wild rumors were afloat that he would make a clean breast of the affair and implicate some very prominent Montgomery people.

Throughout the long trial Vincent's lips remained sealed, and the startling developments waited for never came.

Since Vincent's confinement he has become morose and dissatisfied. A few days ago he sent for one of the state inspectors, and to him announced his intention of making a full statement of all his stealings and telling the names of the parties who received a portion of the boodle. Vincent said that before he died he would let the world know the whole story. He does not seek to exonerate himself, but claims that it will be only justice to let the world know that others were benefitted by his crime.

He does not say when he will make his statement, but he is determined to make public the whole story.

KANSAS CIVILIZATION.

The War in Stevens County Still Kept Up—Militia Called Out.

ST. LOUIS, August 3.—A special dispatch says that ten companies of the Second regiment state militia left Hutchison, Kan., by special train this morning for Liberty, Kan. From there they will march across the prairie to Hugotown, and will not reach that place until Sunday.

Reports today from Stevens county are to the effect that the situation is serious, and an open conflict is feared at any moment. Both towns are getting more arms and ammunition, and are preparing for war. On Wednesday evening a Woodsdale man named Harter and a Hugotown man named Watson met about midway between the two towns and had a duel. Several shots were fired at long and short range. Harter was seriously wounded.

A BLACKMAILER SCARED.

He Drew a Pistol on Ex-Senator Fair, But Changed His Mind.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., August 3.—Something of a sensation was created this afternoon by one Geisfelder, the representative of a small paper here, rushing down the steps of the Nevader bank, crying "murder!"

Geisfelder had secured an interview with ex-Senator Fair, who is president of the Nevada bank, and had threatened Fair with the publication of a scurrilous article against him if he did not at once give Geisfelder $5,000.

The demand enraged Fair, who felled Geisfelder with a blow and Geisfelder drew a pistol, and Fair drawing his own struck the blackmailer on the head, when the clerks of the bank rushed in and joined in defending their president. Geisfelder then fled.

An Old Feud.

TEMPLE, Tex., August 3.—A tragedy occurred on the public road near Rogers on Wednesday evening. H. R. Lemmon and Frank Emmmons were traveling from Rogers toward their home, and were met by J. M. Crow, with whom Lemmon had previously had trouble. Shooting commenced at once. Both Lemmon and Emmons were shot to death and their bodies were left in the road.

Crow went to his home and sent word that he was ready to surrender, as he felt that he was justified in what he had done. The quarrel between Crow and Lemmon had its origin about a year ago in slanderous reports which were circulated connecting the names of Crow and Mrs. Lemmon together. An affray occurred about that time between Mrs. Lemmon and Crow's wife, in which the latter was badly beaten.

He Stabbed All Three.

CHICAGO, August 3.—A special to the Daily News from Elkhart, Ind., says: Benjamin Scott, a Texan who came here recently, and who is wealthy, this evening fatally stabbed Con Crowley, a young stock dealer, George Newell, a leading farmer and capitalist, and James Smith, a colored porter at the Clifton house. Scott owns property near Clifton, in the vicinity of a barn occupied by Crowley. Several controversies had taken place in regard to alleged trespasses on Scott's property and Scott threatened to kill any one who again trespassed on it. This afternoon Scott, Crowley, Smith and Newell were talking the motter over in an alley when Scott became enraged at them and stabbed the three.

CHICAGO, Ills., August 3.—Ralph Sevic, the anarchists' gunmaker and alleged manufacturer of dynamite, and his fellow conspirators, Hronek, Chopek and Chaboun, were before Judge Hawes today to ask for a continuance of their case, which is on call of the calendar for the present term. As the state has a number of important cases on hand, the continuance was agreed to until Septem be term.

Instantly Killed.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., August 3.—Yesterday at a voting precinct in the tenth district of Claiborne county, Burnside Yoakum shot and killed James Smith, the independent republican candidate for county trustee. Smith and Yoakum's brother were engaged in a hot discussion over the election, when Yoakum walked up and shot Smith through the temple, killing him instantly. Yoakum escaped. All the parties to the dispute are republicans.

Steve Brodie's Rival.

NEW YORK, August 3.—A young stableman of Staten Island evaded the police today, and jumped from Brooklyn bridge, and now lies in Long Island college hospital, probably fatally injured.

THOUGHT IT A SHAKE,

And the Stampede Which Followed

BROKE UP A POLITICAL MEETING.

The State of Affairs in the Politics of South Carolina—The Effect of Tillman's Twaddle.

CHARLESTON, S. C., August 3.—[Special.]—The democratic campaign is becoming warm in this state. "Moses" Tillman, the leader of the farmers' movement, and a man named L. S. Bigham, of Marion, are leading the opposition, and the regular campaign meetings have degenerated into regular republican rallies of the reconstruction era stripe.

The negroes are quick to see the symptoms of a split in the ranks of the democrats, and attend these meeting in a body, and whoop it up for these two reformers.

The readers of THE CONSTITUTION have probabably heard of Tillman. Bigham, however, is a new factor in the campaign. He is a Scotchman by birth, and an arrant demagogue, an illiterate plowboy and a knave. He acquired prominence by accusing ex-Governor Thompson of stealing $50 worth of furniture from the executive mansion at Columbia, a rather serious charge, considering that Governor Thompson is now practically the custodian of all the money in the United States treasury. Bigham is a candidate for the state senate from Marion county, and as strange as it may appear, he has a large following. At the meeting at Florence yesterday a reporter threatened to thrash him and made him apologize.

It begins to look now that the negro will soon be on top again in South Carolina. Bigham is a nonentity by himself, but sustained by Tillman, who has the ignorant class of farmers by the ears, he becomes dangerous. Unless the democrats of the state sit down upon these two in the approaching election, the return of negro supremacy in South Carolina is a question of only a few years.

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

The democratic rally here tonight bade fair to be a fizzle, when a strange incident occurred which fivened up the proceedings.

The turn-out was large, though the speeches of Governor Richardson and Lieutenant-Governor Mauldin fell comparatively flat. The former spoke for over an hour and a quarter and the latter for over half an hour. Then reformer Tillman, the piece de resistence, took the stand amid cries of "Let her go, Ben Gallager."

There were some attempts to interrogate him, but the chairman promptly stopped these. Tillman's speech was frequently punctuated with applause and shouts of laughter. While he was speaking a

STRANGE PANIC OCCURRED.

Some one kicked the bass drum belonging to the band; a woman in the crowd shrieked out: "Good God, dat's a shake," and the crowd stampeded. There were a good many negroes present, and these, as well as the whites, dashed panic-stricken down the street. Three or four little negroes were trampled upon and seriously hurt, and many of the audience had their hats and coats torn off them. There was no shake of course, and the stampede was soon stopped, but the scare proved too much for many of the crowd, and the meeting was finished with a conparatively slight audience.

Tillman's speech was simply a repetition of these he had previously made, only many of his utterances were toned down. Tillman spoke over an hour, notwithstanding another stampede which occurred, and seemed to make a decided impression upon the audience. Comptroller General Verner was the last speaker, and closed the meeting about one o'clock.

TENNESSEE POLITICS.

The Republicans of Chattanooga Badly Divided—The Returns.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., August 3.—[Special.] It was 12 o'clock today before full returns from the election in this county were all received. The republicans elected A. Shelton sheriff by a majority of 517, and the democrats elected W. R. Hall tax assessor over Erwin, republican, by a majority of 976. The defeat of Erwin, who was a leading colored man, has caused hot blood among the republicans, and it is conceded by many republicans that it will result in the defeat of H. Clay Evans for congress in this district. The republicans of Hamilton county are hopelessly divided, and it holds the key to the situation in the congressional race.

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY AT NASHVILLE.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., August 3.—[Special.]—Returns are coming in slowly. The indications are that East Tennessee has gone republican by the usual majority. Democratic gains are reported in middle and west Tennessee. A rather light vote was cast in this, Davidson, county. The democrats certainly elect the trustee and sheriff. The race between Hudson, democrat, and Welsh, republican, for trustee, is very close. All magisterial tickets badly scratched.

Enough is now known to show that every democratic nominee on the county ticket is elected. Hudson, for tax assessor, ran a thousand votes behind the ticket, but is elected by five or six hundred majority. All the twenty-eight democratic nominees from the city district were elected.

A Candidate Declines.

FORT WORTH, Texas, August 3.—The Gazette tomorrow will print a letter from Hon. Evan Jones, nominee for governor on the non-partisan-independent ticket, which ticket was indorsed by the union labor party of Texas, declining to allow the use of his name. Jones is president of the Farmers Alliance in Texas, and refuses the nomination of governor on the ground that he would drag the alliance into politics. The executive committee of the non-partisan party has authority to fill the vacancy on the ticket.

A MODEL YOUNG MAN.

His Only Fault Was His Cigarette Smoking, and That Killed Him.

CINCINNATI, August 3.—A special from Paris, Ky., to the Enquirer says: Henry M. Vimont, of Millersburg, Ky., was yesterday sent to the Lexington insane asylum. Those who were acquainted with his habits say that his loss of reason was caused by his inveterate cigarette smoking, he having been known to smoke one hundred a day. At the time his mind commenced to give way he was holding a lucrative position in Leadville, Colorado, a couple of years ago, and was a model young man.

The Fever in Florida.

WASHINGTON, August 3.—Surgeon-General Hamilton has received the following telegram from Dr. Murray, at Manatee, Fla.:

"Three new cases, making eight in all, at Manatee. No deaths."

He has also received a dispatch from Dr. Wall, at Tampa, as follows:

"Mr. Murray has been looking after the cordon, making house inspections and trying to get the people to recoguize the gravity of the situation. He has the opposition of the local physicians only. The one case reported at Plant City is the same as reported yesterday."

THEY HOPE TO SUCCEED

In Getting the Indians to Sign the Treaty—The Position of the Chiefs.

STANDING ROCK AGENCY, Dak., August 3.—The commissioners, in this morning's council with the Indians, succeeded in drawing out the fact that the four chiefs, John Gross, Gall, Mad Bear and Big Head, backed by Sitting Bull, are holding the Indians back from assenting to the act of congress, by intimidation.

The chiefs were asked in open council in the presence of all the Indians to get up and say that every Indian might act as he pleased and accept or reject the offer of the government, and that in thus expressing his mind, would give no offense to the chiefs and would not be hurt or interfered with on account of his action. The request was made and repeated twice and the chiefs sat sullenly in their places and said nothing. The Indians looked at the chiefs and waited to hear their reply.

The commissioners then stated that they regarded the silence of chiefs as an admission that they were keeping the people back under intimidation, and that the people were not allowed to speak their true sentiments. This caused a considerable sensation, and the commissioners adjourned the council until Monday. Every provision of the treaty has been fully explained and all objections answered over and again. The commissioners still believe that a favorable result may be obtained by taking time. The Indians have been assured and reassured that each Indian shall have a right to give his assent or dissent according to his wish and desire. The commissioners are informed through reliable sources that there are a number who would sign but for the intimidation which is increasing. John Gross spoke today, and he showed a more comprehensive knowledge of the details of the act than any speech yet made by any Indian. This encouraged the commissioners to persevere and take more time and care in their efforts to have the act fully and clearly placed before all.

The Indian Troubles.

WASHINGTON, August 3.—The following telegram was received at the war department this morning from General Howard:

General Miles telegraphs from Fort Grant as follows: Fort Thomas, August 2.—The Indians fired into Porters's camp guard tents at Jeweler's old camp last evening about sundown. The soldiers and Porters reached the post about half-past two. Supposed to be six or seven Indians about to join renegades. Have sent B troop to investigate.

(Signed) VANVLIET,
Major Tenth Cavalry Commanding.

Porters is at the sub-agency or Indian farming camp, between Fort Thomas and San Carlos, on the Gila river.

A FLOUR TRUST.

The Plan Upon Which the Central Millers' Association is to be Formed.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., August 3.—Circulars have been issued by Alex H. Smith, secretary of the St. Louis Millers' association, calling a meeting of the millers of Missouri, Illinois, Kansas, Indiana, Tennessee, and of all winter wheat states, for the purpose of framing a flour trust. The meeting is to be held in St. Louis on August 31st.

An agreement has already been signed by all prominent mills of St. Louis. The St. Louis association has a capacity of 17,000 barrels per day. The agreement is very rigid in its stipulations.

It is proposed to call trust "Central Millers association." The object being to secure members legitimate profit on products. The following stipulation is in the agreement: "Absolute submission to the authority of which the individual member is only an integral part. The power of directors is made absolute. They are to fix prices, may order reduction in the output or closing down of the mill, contract with brokers to act for members of the association. Credits are not to exceed thirty days. Mills at points tributary to St. Louis, Detroit or Toledo shall not pay over current prices for the same grades of wheat or flour in those markets less two-thirds of freight rate thereto. All sales of less than car lots must be ten (10) cents higher than current minimum prices."

The trust proposes to control absolutely the output, price and sale of flour in the territory it will govern. The circular has been kept profound secret until today, and promoters of the project are very angry over its gaining publicity.

IN NORTH CAROLINA.

A Crazy Woman Buries a Baby Alive—Other News.

RALEIGH, N. C., August 3.—[Special.]—At Goldsboro yesterday, Carolina Wood, an idiotic colored woman, carried off L. Edwards's little boy, and after digging a hole and partly burying him, went to get a brick to kill him with. While she was looking for the brick some people came up and rescued the child. The woman is in jail.

The large steam saw mill belonging to Rufus Fleming, at Yankee Hall, Greene county, was burned last night. The loss is $4,000.

The reunion of ex-confederates at Pittsboro yesterday was in all respects a grand affair. Ten thousand persons were present. There were one thousand ex-confederates in line. Senators Vance and Ransom made speeches. A banquet was given in honor of the old soldiers.

Yesterday, near Fayetteville, while Mrs. McD. Geddie was attempting to sink a bucket in a well, a long and heavy wooden sweep parted, falling with great force on her back. She died in five minutes in the presence of her children.

At Henderson, Dibrell & Walker's tobacco prize house was discovered to be on fire. The fire spread to the prize house occupied by W. H. Smoot & Co., and owned by Perry Bros. E. G. Barnes's prize house was also burned. The loss is $20,000.

THE OLD WORLD.

LONDON, August 3.—The Daily News says that the Parnellites have no intention at present to offer further serious objection to the commission bill. The commission, it says, will probably not commence inquiry until November.

It is officially announced that Queen Victoria will not go to Baden.

Crops Destroyed in France.

PARIS, August 3.—The president of the French Agricultural society has made a report regarding the losses caused by the recent rains. He says that there has been much destruction, and that peasants have been compelled to kill their animals, being unable to feed them. He also says that corn cannot ripen; that potatoes are rotting, and that the vintage this year will be inferior. He estimates the loss to agriculture at a half million of francs, and says if the bad weather continues a month longer the crisis will extend to enormous dimensions.

The Paris Strike.

PARIS, August 3.—At a mass meeting of strikers at the labor exchange today, violent speeches were made in favor of holding out. Many of the strikers, however, becoming discouraged, have resumed work.

After the meeting at the labor exchange, waiters, barbers and others marched away singing "Marseillaise." They stoned the police. The situation becoming critical, an officer drew his revolver and overawed the crowd. Several restaurant and cafe waiters have threatened to strike.

Flood Devastations in Silesia.

BERLIN, August 3.—Selisia is being devastated by terrible floods, the worst known in thirty years. All along the rivers, Baber and Zacken, the damage is especially great. Several mills at Griefenberg have been destroyed, and crops have been ruined.

The Italian Protectorate.

ROME, August 3.—The Italian government notifies the powers that the Italian flag has been hoisted over the island of Zella, southward of Massowah, and that a protectorate has been proclaimed in compliance with the demands of local sheiks.

The Emperor and the Pope.

ROME, August 3.—The papal nuncio at Vienna has been instructed to arrange with the German court the details of Emperor William's visit to the Vatican.

GEORGIA POLITICS.

A Lively Time Expected in Savannah

At the Mass Meeting on Monday Night—Result of Primaries in Several Counties—Conventions to be Held in the Future.

SAVANNAH, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—A right lively meeting will be the one called for next Monday night at the theater. At least that is confidently expected by the men who are supposed to run things. From all the indications the meeting will be well worth attending, simply for the fun that may develop if for no other reason. It is not likely that more than one set of delegates to the state convention will be put in nomination and they will go through without opposition. These delegates will support Mr. Walter Charlton for a presidential elector at large for the state. Mr. Charlton has made no canvass for the place at all, but there is a general understanding throughout the state that he will be put on. Whether more than one ticket will be put up for the legislature, no one can positively say tonight. An effort is being made to induce some of the candidates for the general assembly to withdraw.

Over the nomination of the tickets for the legislature there may be a lively little tilt. Major Ryals, Mr. William Clifton, Colonel Peter Reilly and Captain W. W. Gordon are in the lead, but only three of them can go. Captain Gordon will probably head the ticket.

There is a great deal of talk about resolutions being offered to instruct the delegation to have the present law governing the appointment of the county commissioners repealed. Resolutions to that effect would go through the meeting with a whoop if any one puts them, and they are all well supported.

THE SENATORSHIP.

Judge Philip M. Russell says that he does not think he will have much opposition in the mass meeting. He has heard that some of Mr. J. R. Saussy's friends may try to get through an uninstructed delegation to the Eden convention. It is on this senatorial question that the greatest fight is expected. There is an opposition to Judge Russell, but it has been working quietly. Mr. Saussey's friends believe that he can be elected president of the senate if he is a member of that body.

The result of all mass meetings at the theater has depended in a large degree upon getting there early, and on Monday night those candidates whose friends get the back seats will be apt to get left off the ticket.

Mr. Henry Smith and his son, Bob Smith, of Bryan county, are in the city today. Bob Smith says that he has received a cordial invitation to address next Monday night's meeting at the theater, and he expects to be present and speak from the stage on the senatorial question.

THE SUPREME COURT JUDGESHIP.

The canvass is being pushed in the interest of Judge Adams's candidacy for the supreme court bench. The committee of ten appointed at a meeting of the bar two weeks ago is actively at work and a good deal has been accomplished in a quiet way. Judge Adams's friends are working for a delegation that will have the strongest influence in the legislature toward securing his election.

LIVELY TIMES IN ELBERT.

The Mass Meeting Next Tuesday—A Joint Discussion Probable.

ELBERTON, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—Next Tuesday promises to be a warm day, politically, in Elberton. A mass meeting has been called to elect delegates to the gubernatorial and congressional conventions, and to take in consideration any other matters that may come before it. There will be no trouble about electing delegates, as the people are pretty well all for Gordon and Carlton, but local matters are likely to assume a lively shape. The executive committee called a mass meeting for that day, and the mass meeting of last first Tuesday, which the executive committee refused to recognize as legitimately called, adjourned over to that day. So the first wrangle is expected to be made on the question as to whose meeting it is. There are so many candidates and so much political feeling in the county and district that it is very easy to convert a mole hill into a mountain.

Colonel W. G. Johnson, the Oglethorpe candidate for senator, will address the people in Elberton on that day, and he has invited Colonels Shannon and Harper, of Elbert, to Elbert, to join in the discussion.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Hon. John T. Graves has been suggested as an elector from the seventh district. Hon. M. L. Johnson, of Cartersville, is also spoken of as a suitable man for the position.

The democrats of Pickens county will meet at Jasper and select delegates to the state and congressional conventions today. It is quite likely that Candler delegates will be appointed.

Next Tuesday is the day appointed for Forsyth county to nominate a candidate for state senator from the 39th district. The plan to select delegates to the convention did not meet favor with the people, and but few delegates, if any at all, were elected.

Under the resolutions passed by the mass meeting of the democracy of Pike county, in Zebulon, July 13th, an election will be held today to elect delegates to the county convention to be held in Zebulon next Tuesday, for the purpose of nominating two representatives.

A democratic mass meeting at Danielsville has been called for next Tuesday to select delegates to the gubernatorial and congressional conventions, and also to take into consideration the propriety of holding a primary election for Madison county representative and for all county officers.

Today is a big time in the fourth congressional district. Primaries will be held in the counties of Troup, Carroll, Heard, and Meriwether. Grimes and Traylor's friends have both been putting in hard work for their respective candidates. These counties are all claimed for Traylor, but Grimes men are confident most of them will go for their favorite.

The consolidation of returns for Taylor county give the following results: Hon. J. W. Grimes for congress; majority over Mr. Gorman of 221. Dr. F. P. Singleton, representative; M. H. Kiley, ordinary; C. A. J. Pope, sheriff; J. B. Fowler, clerk superior court; J. R. Hays, tax receiver; W. W Foy, tax collector; J. J. West, treasurer; W. H. Jinks, surveyor; Y. H. Caldwell, coroner.

The trio in the legislative race in Oglethorpe county are still hard at work. Colonel J. T. Olive, one of the last members, seems to be in the lead. Mr. O. H. Arnold and W. C. Birchmore are pretty close together, and it is impossible to tell the result. Both sides are very confident, and they have a right to be, for both are good men, and the people know it, and the result will only be a personal preference.

At a meeting held at Lincolnton Thursday to nominate a senator for the twenty-ninth district and a representative for Lincoln county, everything passed off quietly. It was the largest political meeting there since the famous Gordon Bacon convention two years ago. Mr. J. E. Strother, of Lincoln county, was nominated by acclamation for senator. The following is the vote for representative: Dr. John Sims, 241; F. M. Wright, 110; S. P. Elam, 52. Dr. Sims was declared the nominee.

A correspondent from Lexington says: "Never have our people had so many barbecues as this year—it seems every portion of the county is determined to out do the other. The candidates are getting hoarse from speaking so much, but they meet every invitation and respond to every call. Our county candidates are not only good men, but forcible speakers, and can easily turn down opposition from other quarters. We yet think our senatorial race will result in the election of our man, Colonel W. G. Johnson, who is playing a winning hand, and is, without doubt, the most popular speaker in the race, besides his many other qualifications."

The consolidated results of yesterday's primary of the 19th senatorial district, in Warrenton, is as follows:

Hon. T. E. Massengale, 384; A. S. Morgan, 163; T. N. Pool, 102; for the house of representatives, T. J. Veazey, 334; J. H. Hall, 316, which nominates Mr. Massengale for senator by a handsome majority of 119 over both of his opponents and nominates Veazey for representative by the small majority of 18. Considerable money changed hands and a deal of excitement prevailed between the Hall and Veazey men as the reports came in from the 19th precinct. Warren county and the 19th senatorial district will be ably represented and Mr. Massengale will reflect credit upon himself and his constituents.

POLK COUNTY'S TREASURES.

Brown Hematite in Abundance—The Rich Red Lands.

CEDARTOWN, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—Is brown hematite iron ore always an indication of rich land? This question was sprung here in a group of iron men and farmers. The opinion was decidedly affirmative, and certainly it is, if one is to be governed by observation in this valley and Polk county. What is known as the Reid iron hill, three miles from town, the mineral interest of which sold for $12,000, is the crown of a rich red land farm mixed with dark mulatto soil, as it spreads out from the hill's base toward Cedar creek and into the valley. The Ledbetter and Leak mountains iron ridge, one mile from town, is the backbone, as it were, of one of the very best red soil farms, highly productive of all our crops, and especially grain, grasses and clover. While Anniston, Ala., through Bigelow & Barton and the Polk County Mining company, with washers and miners and railroad, is daily procuring food for their furnaces from the ore of these hills, the farms are in a good state of cultivation and yielding fine crops to the owners.

The same may be said of the Wood ore banks and Peck's iron hills, still near town. They crop up from the basin of fine red and mulatto soils, and nowhere in our valley can you find stronger, richer red lands than surround and cover the iron beds on the Poole & Co. farm, a mile south of town. On all these lands the miner's pick and the plowman's almost clash, the one taking out the rich mineral, the other finding abundant crops as a reward for his labors. If we go out west in Polk to the works of Iron Oredell, other large iron properties near Pryor's station, this same strong red land invariably abounds. Ridge valley's property, the Vandevender, the Wood-farms, the Statti Folger iron hills, and, in fact, iron lands of Elba, all in Polk, the same observation applies.

In eastern Polk, around Rockmart, where you find much iron ore and mining there, also rich and strong red lands keep company with this iron ore. Hence, it seems a well grounded opinion that in Cedar Valley and Polk county, at least, brown hematite iron ore is an earmark of rich, red and dark mulatto lands, on which all grain, grasses and clover flourish as well as in the very best sections of our country, and where even the yield per acre in cotton stands first in the state. It's a wonderful country where such treasures are locked up in such soil.

THE LIGHTNING'S STROKE.

A Greenesboro Family Has a Narrow Escape From Death.

GREENESBORO, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—About noon today lightning from a passing cloud struck the residence of Mr. J. F. Hall, almost in the heart of the city. Mr. W. E. Hall and Mrs. Robert M. English, a son and daughter, who are at home on a visit, with a younger brother, Mr. George R. Hall, were in the parlor at the time, the former lying on a sofa across the southeast corner of the room. The bolt came down the corner post, not over a foot from where Mr. Hall was lying. He was knocked to the floor, and for a few minutes it was thought he was killed. The weather boarding was torn from the house and the plastering scattered over the floor in great confusion. The report spread through the town, and in a few minutes an excited crowd was hastening to the house.

Examination developed that Mr. Hall had only sustained a severe shock. He soon rallied and in half hour was conversing pleasantly with his friends. His sister and brother, who were at the piano, some feet away, received no injury, though they were dreadfully frightened. Mr. Hall is one of the most popular young men ever raised here, and he has friends all over Georgia, who will rejoice to learn that his life was spared.

A FRUITLESS SEARCH.

The Police of Savannah Watching the Steamers for Young Crenshaw.

MACON, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—Mention was made in today's CONSTITUTION from Macon of young Crenshaw's running away from home and his father's telegram here for his arrest. The police have not yet found him, and it is thought that he went from here to Savannah. In speaking of it the Savannah Morning News says:

Collector Crenshaw also sent a telegram to this city to a friend stating that his son had left home and requesting them to keep a watch for him and apprehend him if he should come to Savannah. Young Crenshaw was expected to come down to Savannah and take to-day's steamer for New York. A companion was expected to join him here, but by some means they failed to meet and young Crenshaw was left by himself. A sharp lookout was kept for him yesterday. The outgoing Boston steamer was watched and all the trains arriving yesterday and last night were spotted, but the young man was not found.

MACON'S PUBLIC BUILDING.

The Work Progressing—A Detective's Hiding Place.

MACON, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—The work of construction on new United States government building here is progressing in a most gratifying manner. The work of plastering of the building is in charge of Superintendent J. J. Dunn, and is being pushed very rapidly. Today the second and third floors were finished in this respect, and the forces put on the first one, which will be completed in a few days. One of the rooms in the building is a small one between the first and second floors with port holes on each side. It is the government detective's tricks, and by it he can see every employe in the postoffice, both delivery and money order department, and enter and leave without being seen. There are many such conveniences as these there, though they may be the cause of making some parties sometime feel very inconvenient.

SEEKING COOLER SPOTS.

A Very Warm Day in Macon—The Mercury at 96.

MACON, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—The weather today has been suffocating. In the afternoon the thermometer stood at 96, and it looked as if it was determined to stay there forever. In many places it was over 100, and the worst of it was that there was not a cool place to be found. Fewer people were on the streets than any day this year, and a number who have taken their summer trips vow that if it don't hold up soon they will hie themselves away to the seacoast again. The Central railroad is to run a cheap round trip excursion to Tybee next week, and great crowds are expected to go down. Even as late in the season as it is, numbers are leaving for Cumberland every day, while equally as many are going north.

Affairs About Arlington.

ARLINGTON, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—Wallace, the son of Colonel H. C. Sheffield, of this place, was thrown from a horse a day or two ago and his collar bone broken. He is slowly improving.

There is a splendid outlook for cotton in this section. The light rains of the last day or two helped them wonderfully. One or two bales will be in this week.

Arlington is at last on a boom. The negroes are building a church.

Arrest of a Smokehouse Thief.

MADISON, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—Four negroes were brought to the city and lodged in jail this morning, having been accused of breaking into a smokehouse in the county. Having failed to give bond they will remain in jail until the September term of the superior court.

Work on the compress is moving along at a rapid pace. Our depot now presents a busy scene. Hands are at work on the compress and railroad and work on the reunion grounds is also being pushed forward.

An Escaped Convict Armed.

BYRON, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—Jack Coleman, an escaped convict who has been hiding out about here, broke in the house of Cornelius Scott tonight and stole therefrom a shotgun, a loaded pistol and several suits of wearing apparel. Parties have been trying to effect his arrest for several days, but Jack is sharp enough to give them the dodge. He being armed now, perhaps he will be feared a little more than when unarmed.

News from Americus.

AMERICUS, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—Americus received fifteen bales of cotton since the first bale came in Wednesday.

Dr. A. J. Hutson died at his home on Lee street at 5 o'clock this morning and was buried at 4:30 this afternoon.

The committee appointed to canvass for subscriptions to a cotton factory have opened a list. Applications for stock are coming in.

AROUND IN THE STATE.

Items of Interest From Our Exchanges.

A Negro Drowned in the Chattahoochee—A Female's Marksmanship—Large Profits on Fruit Crops.

All the counties along the line of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad show an increase in the tax returns over last year, viz: Cobb, $79,939; Cherokee, $50,000; Pickens, $60,372; and Gilmer, $57,146. This shows an average increase of $61,864 in the counties traversed by the Marietta and North Georgia railroad.

The Cartersville Courant says that a preacher in charge of a certain work in this county was in the store of one of his members last week, and saw a nice lot of playing cards displayed with the other goods. He deliberately priced and bought the whole lot, and then just as deliberately took the whole lot out into the road, and burned them before the astonished spectators.

Keep matches out of the reach of children. There is not only danger of the little ones being burned to death, but the following from the Eastman Journal shows that the chemicals used in their manufacture are poisonous: "Mr. Jackson Southerland, living just across the line of Dodge county, left a box of matches in reach of his little two-year-old girl on Saturday last. She ate the heads of seven or eight, which resulted in her death on the following Monday morning."

Jack Robinson, colored, was drowned in the Chattahoochee river, at Fort Gaines, last Saturday. The unfortunate man, and a companion, attempted to cross the river in a bateau, intending to make a landing at the wharf. Just as they reached the shore, the current drove the frail boat under an overhanging ledge of rock, capsizing it, and precipitating both men into the water. Jack was seen no more after going down.

A man who has such a wife as this needs never go hungry. The Jasper Herald says that Mrs. Jones, wife of Mr. A. V. Jones, who lives near town, is the champion shot of those diggings. Last week a young man was trying to kill a hawk, but a few shots proved that his marksmanship was bad. Finally the hawk lit near the house, when Mrs. Jones took down the gun and went out and killed it and cooked and ate it for dinner.

Here is something remarkable. The Greenesboro Herald and Journal says that Mr. O. M. Hendry has twin brothers, and they are rather remarkable in various ways. Their conditions are the same. If one gets mad the other does too; when one is sick the other is also. They suffer together and rejoice together. They go to sleep almost at the same moment and wake the same way. Altogether they are rather a singular pair.

Mr. R. E. McAfee, of Smithville, is one of the many enterprising citizens of that place who have struck it rich on Le Conte pears this summer. After the last severe freeze in the spring the belief was general that the pear crop was killed, or else was so badly injured as to amount to almost nothing. Mr. McAfee had his doubts about this, and so bought from a neighbor the entire yield from his orchard of two hundred trees for the nominal sum of $25. As the season advanced it was seen that the yield would be nearly an average one, and Mr. McAfee has already sold from the orchard nearly $1,000 worth of fruit and is not yet through gathering.

Gainesville Eagle: "We have been reliably informed that a rich vein of tin has been discovered in an adjoining county, not more than twenty miles from Gainesville. The ore from this vein has been submitted to an expert, who says that it will assay from 20 to 22 per cent of pure tin, and that the supply is almost inexhaustible. If this is true, northeast Georgia has another mineral product which will add immensely to her other sources of wealth, and will probably compete in time with the celebrated Cornwall mines of England."

VETERANS' REUNION.

A Grand Old Time at Oglethorpe—Everybody Happy.

OGLETHORPE, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—The reunion of the Macon county veterans took place here yesterday, and it was pronounced by all to be a grand success. There was never a more orderly crowd anywhere. Everybody seemed happy and endeavored to make the day as pleasant as possible. Randolph street at 12:30 m. presented an interesting appearance. Long tables under the delightful shade of three rows of water oaks, were heaped with delicacies to suit the taste of the most fastidious. The old soldiers marched two abreast from the court house to the tables, and took their places among the gay and happy throng.

After dinner all lingered in pleasant conversation for awhile, then repaired to the ball ground where the Oglethorpe boys played a match game with the Americus nine, beating them 18 to 8.

After tea another surprise awaited the young people. Randolph street was lighted up beautifully with Chinese lanterns, with seats scattered about in the grove, and presented an enchanting appearance as the young people assembled there to enjoy themselves in various ways.

Much honor is due the young men of this charming little place for the manner in which they entertain visitors and home folks.

The Andersonville band was present at the lawn party, and was enjoyed by all. The crowd dispersed at a late hour, all feeling that the entire day was a success.

Reunions in the Future.

The reunion of the Eighteenth Georgia will be held at Cartersville on Friday the 10th inst.

Phillips legion will hold a reunion at Dalton the 17th of August. General Longstreet is expected to be present. Dalton is preparing a royal welcome.

The ex-confederate soldiers of Milton county will hold a reunion at Alpharetta on the 8th day of this month. All the old soldiers of adjoining counties are expected to be present and participate in the pleasures of the day.

There is some talk of getting up a reunion of the survivors of General Cheatham's old division of the army of Tennessee in the coming fall, which may include an excursion to Cheatham's Hill—Dead Angle—on the Kennesaw mountain line, where the hard fighting was done on the 27th day of June, 1864. The battle fought on that day is known among the confederates as the battle of Kennesaw mountain, but the brunt of the fight was at what is now called by the citizens of that locality "Cheatham's Hill," two and three-fourths miles south of Kennesaw mountain.

An Augusta Blaze.

AUGUSTA, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—There was a fire at midnight tonight on Twigg street, in the bar of J. H. Lmitjs, caused by an exploding lamp. Two houses were burned. Loss about $3,000; insurance unknown.

THEY RETURN TO VIRGINIA.

The Suspicious Couple at the Planters' Hotel Leave.

AUGUSTA, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—"C. R. Sams and sister, of Virginia," who have excited so much attention at the Planters' hotel here, and who are believed to be the eloping couple from Lynchburg—Mr. Robert Blanks and Mrs. W. F. Matthews—have left for Charlottesville, Va., the former home of Miss Bertha Fitzallen Parrott, in response to a telegram signed W. F. Parrott, telling them to come on at once on a matter of vital importance to them.

Miss Sams is said to have remarked yesterday: "Well, suppose I were Mrs. Matthews, what could they prove against me? I would be safe from censure traveling with my cousin."

They left on the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta train, and had their baggage checked through to Charlottesville. It is understood that Mr. W. F. Matthews telegraphed yesterday to parties in the city asking if "C. R. Sams and sister" are yet at the Planter's. He received an answer in the affirmative. Before young Sams left he went to a hardware store on Broad street and purchased a $17 Smith & Wesson, adding coolly to a by-stander:

"I have an English bull-dog, but it does not shoot true."

Fighting for a Dower.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., August 3.—[Special.]—The supreme court of Alabama has decided a very novel and interesting case. Last year Richard Bush, a wealthy and well-known citizen of Butler county, died. He had been married three times, and at death left a widow and one divorced wife, who had been divorced on the ground of desertion and had lived in Texas a number of years. After his death the widow and the divorced wife both claimed a dower interest in the estate. The probate court gave the widow the dower and the chancery court granted the same interest to the divorced wife, the decree being based on a former decision of the supreme court that a divorced wife was entitled to a dower unless she had been divorced for adultery. The case came up to the supreme court, and the opinion of the court holds that the widow is entitled to the dower interest, to the exclusion of the divorced wife.

A Hog-Stealing Case.

LEXINGTON, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—Peter Smith, colored, in default of bond for stealing a hog, was jailed by Sheriff Maxwell last night. Peter stole a hog from Mr. Dillard, sold it to another negro, in whose possession the hog was found. Of course the honest old negro told how he bought it from Peter, but Peter denied it, and swore that the other man stole the hog. Peter has a bad character, and the evidence will show that he did the stealing.

COTTON BAGGING.

The Jute Men Form a Syndicate

And the Price of Cotton Bagging Goes Up to the Skies—The Profits of the Pool.

There is a corner in cotton bagging.

The jute bag syndicate has succeeded in scooping the market, and throughout the country factors are at the mercy of the pool, with the price steadily going up.

A leading Georgia factor telegraphed to New York for prices, and received the following reply:

We quote today 1¾ lb bagging at 10¼ cents; 2 lb, 11¼ cents; 2¼ lb, 12¼ cents, less ¼ cent for car load lots and ¼ additional for 50,000 yards. This for immediate reply. Terms cash; draft with bill of lading.

"Will you accept this?" the factor was asked.

"I guess we will have to," was the reply. "We cannot help ourselves. We have no stock on hand. We could ship 500 half rolls, if we had them, in orders already in hand. Planters are needing the bagging now. Here are two gentlemen from southwestern Georgia that have come here to see why the bagging is not available." The gentlemen nodded affirmatively, and said that southwest Georgia has a good crop, and all they are waiting for is the bagging. The factor whom were visiting said that other factors were resorting to ludicrous plans to meet small orders, and some of them were trying to borrow from others whose stock is even lower than that of the would-be borrower.

The Savannah News says that a leading firm of factors in that city had about 2,500 rolls of bagging a month ago which has been reduced to about fifty half rolls. This firm has been standing out, and buying from hand to mouth, hoping for a decline, but they were notified by telegram from Boston of another advance, on lots of 1,000 half rolls, as follows, free on board at Boston:

One and three quarter pound bagging from 9½ cents to 9¾ cents per yard; two pound bagging, from 10¼ cents to 10½ cents per yard; two and one-quarter pound bagging, from 11 cents to 12 cents per yard.

It was also apparent that as the demand increased prices would be advanced. It is too late, the factors say, to get bagging from abroad to compete with the pool in time to handle the crop now being harvested, and to be harvested this month and next.

"We are all at sea," said the representative of another Savannah firm. "We can't get the bagging without paying the price demanded, and just at the time when the stock has been exhausted, and the factors find themselves besieged with orders from the interior, we are notified by the manufacturers of another advance of one-fourth cent."

At another house the reporter was told the same story. No bagging on hand, no steadiness in the market, prices advancing and orders on hand and still coming in.

Opinions differed as to the effect the advance will have on the cotton market. In one place it was thought that the planters will not stand it, and that the cotton will stay in the ginhouse. Bagging must go down or cotton will go up. After a few first shipments the cotton merchants must help the planters to hold the crop until the demand commands a higher price for cotton. This view was not shared by other factors.

An advance in so small an item as six yards of bagging, they say, will not affect the price of a bale cotton. The merchants cannot afford to carry the planters for the price of a few yards of bagging, and with the likelihood that the same condition of affairs will exist when the demand for bagging will be renewed.

"It was learned," says the News, "that there are 1,200 rolls of bagging on the ocean steamship wharves consigned to an Atlanta broker, who, when he learned the stock was short here, concluded not to reship and it will change hands here no doubt, as there are plenty buyers. The advance thus far has been between 4 cents and 5 cents per yard, and as there are about 55,000,000 yards manufactured annually, it means that the pool will pocket about $2,500,000 on the basis of an advance of 4½ cents per yard. The price of sea island bagging has been only slightly affected by the rise, say about one-half cent per yard, but the price of ties has risen. Last year factors furnished planters at the rate of $1 to $1.05 per bundle, and this year the prices range from $1.15 to $1.20 per bundle."

PROVIDING FOR THE FATHERLESS.

The Georgia Baptist Orphan's Home Association.

A new association is about to be started in the city. Yesterday Messrs. Abbott and Smith, attorneys for the managers of the proposed association, filed in the clerk's office a petition for incorporation.

The new association is to be known as the "Georgia Baptist Orphan Home Association," and has as it object the furnishing of a home and support for orphan children. It has no capital stock, and will be supported by voluntary contributions.

The principal office of the association will be located in Fulton county.

The association is composed of many of the most estimable ladies of the state.

Mrs. Belle K. Abbott is president; Mrs. Harvey Hatcher, recording secretary; Mrs. M. E. Wilson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. J. Moore, treasurer; Mrs. Kate Dawson, auditor. All of these ladies are from Atlanta.

The following are the vice-presidents: Mrs. A. D. Adair, Mrs. H. Lewis, Mrs. M. E. Torbett, Mrs. M. V. Dickinson, Mrs. A. C. Kiddoo, Mrs. W. R. Dale and Mrs. A. B. Matthews.

The following list of ladies constitutes a board of trustees:

Mrs. Dr. Bozeman, Mrs. J. M. Hill, Mrs. M. L. Blanchard, Mrs. J. Norcross, Mrs. C. Goodwyn, Mrs. W. F. Clarke, Mrs. J. H. James, Mrs. M. N. Callaway, Mrs. W. S. Gordon, Mrs. M. L. Harris, Mrs. J. T. Pendleton, Mrs. V. C. Norcross, of Atlanta; Mrs. D. S. Printup, Rome, Ga.; Mrs. James Seymour, Macon, Ga.; Mrs. J. S. Jordan, Augusta, Ga.; Mrs. T. B. Chisholm, Savannah, Ga.; Mrs. Thornton Wheatley, Americus, Ga.; Mrs. Fannie Stocks, Greensboro, Ga.; and Mrs. M. M. Davis, Brunswick, Ga.

The incorporation asked for is for twenty years, and during this time the ladies expect the association to be placed in a prosperous condition.

"All run down" from the weakening effects of warm weather, you need a good tonic and blood purifier like Hood's Sarsaparilla. Give this peculiar medicine a trial. Sold by all druggists.

Gaudaur and McKay Win.

SARATOGA, N. Y., August 3.—A double scull race for the championship of the United States and $2,500 a side, between Teemer and Hamand, Gaudaur and McKay, which was postponed from yesterday on account of the roughness of the water, was rowed this morning. The conditions were all favorable. There was very little wind, and the water was as smooth as glass. Both pairs, at the signal to go, struck water simultaneously, and the race was stubbornly contested throughout. It was nip and tuck over the greater part of the course, but McKay and Gaudaur exhibited greater staying powers and finished from four to five lengths in advance of their opponents. The time of the race was 19:56.

The poor little Sufferer will be immediately relieved by using MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for children teething. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

The Coming of the Reporter.

Mr. Amos Cumming, in an interview on journalism, says a good reporter is the most valuable man in a newspaper office.

Mr. Cumming is exactly right. The streets are full of good editors, but you do not find a good reporter in a day's journey. To tell a story well—to catch the significant point of a scene or occurrence and present them in graphic words—this is the rarest of arts, and the most valuable of accomplishments.

We doubt if there is a newspaper office in America in which an editor is needed. If there is a half dozen can be found round the corner. We are sure there is not a newspaper office in any country in which a first-class reporter cannot find immediate wook and a fine salary. The time will come when the reporter will be the ranking power on the newspaper, and will be better paid than the gentlemen who sit in sanctums and write in the potential "we."

Amos Cumming is the best reporter America has produced, and the time he is wasting in congress is a loss to journalism; unless, indeed, as we suspect, he went into congress merely to enlarge his experience as a reporter. Beyond Mr. Cumming, the late Charles Dickens was the best reporter we remember to have read after. And the time is almost here when either Mr. Cumming or Mr. Dickens would be welcomed to the staff of a newspaper from which John Stuart Mills or Ralph Waldo Emerson had been turned away.

The youngster who can write an able article has little to hope for in journalism. He who can aptly report a meeting or tell the story of a riot has his calling and election sure!

OUR WILLIAM ARP will deliver a lecture on "Fudging" at the Chautauqua. There will be nobody to say "vence" to this.

How England Protects Her Citizens.

The action of the British government in requesting the governor of Missouri to give Brooks, alias Maxwell, the alleged trunk murderer, a further respite is just what might have been expected.

Brooks is a poor man, with no friends in this country, and with no influence in his own, but he is an Englishman in trouble in a strange land. The knowledge of these facts is sufficient to cause the British government to interfere, and ask time for a thorough investigation of the case.

The course of our government under such circumstances is very different. Our citizens get into Mexican and Cuban dungeons, and we let them get out or die without saying a word. In more than one such instance British war vessels have trained their big guns against a sea-board city, and secured the release of unjustly imprisoned Englishmen by force.

There are many objectionable points in the make-up of the British government, but it will protect its humblest citizen wherever he may be. In this respect it is immeasurably superior to our government, and we could not do a better thing than to follow its example.

THE trouble with jute bagging, according to the St. Louis Republic, is that the duty was taken off the bagging and placed on the raw material. But what is the matter with cotton-seed oil?

ONE of the minor hysterians remarks that "THE CONSTITUTION is a great newspaper." We believe this covers the whole ground.

The Melon-Growers' Convention.

The convention of melon and fruit-growers of southern and southwestern Georgia, which is called to meet in Thomasville on the 15th of this month, will be a very important assemblage. Indeed, it ought to mark an epoch in the history of melon and truck-growing in Georgia.

Every grievance of the growers should be deliberately and fully set forth, and every possible means taken to provide a remedy. To that end, prominent representatives of the transportation companies should be invited to attend the convention, and a similar invitation might be extended to the representatives of some of the better known commission houses of the north and west.

The melon-growers of Georgia have good cause for complaint, but this is no reason why any degree of irritation should be manifested in the convention. The body should be essentially a deliberative one, and its deliberations should be in the direction of pure business. Resolutions and declarations are very fine things in politics, but the melon and fruit-growers of Georgia are compelled to face a situation that calls for the exercise of that peculiar outcome of tact and judgment that goes under the name of business.

It is true that the railroads have treated them with gross injustice—in many instances the result has been downright robbery—and it is also true that the roads are greatly interested in the success of melon and truck industry; but the growers themselves are also vitally interested, and the aim of the convention should be to find a remedy not only for the evils that the growers complain of, but for the troubles by which the railroads claim to be hampered.

The whole object of the convention, as we understand it, is to establish a system of shipment, handling and distribution that will afford sufficient profits to all concerned to build up the new industry to vast proportions. There should be system in shipping, system in transportation and system in distribution.

EDITOR HALSTEAD is not having a very good time during the heated term. The mercury is up in the nineties and the ghost of the confederacy is not laid.

A Tremendous Issue.

Editor Richardson, of the Macon Telegraph, is aroused. A riderless white horse belonging to one of the Atlanta hysterians has galloped in his direction, and now his auburn hair stands on end. Under these circumstances and in this inflamed condition, it is not at all surprising that he should misunderstand the remarks of THE CONSTITUTION relative to a matter that is almost purely local in its bearings.

The other day we printed in these columns some editorial comments on the hysterical attitude of a little coterie which professed to believe that the invitation extended to Major McKinley to speak at the Chautauqua was calculated to tear the democratic party of Georgia up by the roots.

Very few of our readers, we venture to say, misinterpreted or misunderstood the drift and intention of the comments in question; but Editor Richardson sees in them a tremendous and portentous issue. Perhaps this is on the principle that when the cat runs a mouse into its hole, the bantam that roosts under the house feels called on to arouse the family.

Thus, when THE CONSTITUTION, treating a trivial matter somewhat lightly, endeavors to show that only hysterians believe the democratic party can be injured by Mr. McKinley's proposed Chautauqua address, Editor Richardson declares that we are referring to those who oppose our "policy and methods," and he adds: "According to the esteemed CONSTITUTION, all the democrats in the state must agree with it or be classed as hysterians." Agree with it about what? The only issue possible in this matter is whether an address delivered by Congressman McKinley will hurt the democratic party. Editor Watterson says that "Mr. McKinley might speak in Atlanta every day in the week and he would do no harm." This, we believe, is the opinion of every democrat who is not a hysterian by nature or profession.

The Telegraph has received a postal card or something of that sort from Atlanta which says: "There are a great many hysterical democrats in Atlanta. It threatens to become epidemic." Just what the "It" refers to we do not know; perhaps to the hilarity which the contortions of the hysterians have created. Certainly this has become epidemic in this neighborhood, where the antics of the hysterians are well understood and appreciated for what they are worth.

There is no earthly reason that we know of why Editor Richardson should parade at the tail-end of this small procession.

THE hysterians claim that they are now exposing their ham-bones in order to vindicate Senator Colquitt. This is probably a good idea, but when the senator was to be vindicated a few years ago they exposed their ham-bones in another direction. This exposure of ham-bones is to be regretted.

BROTHER BLAINE is now on the ocean, bound for these golden shores. When he arrives candidate Harrison will be smothered by his presence and popularity, and in November Harrison will be snuffed out by Mr. Cleveland. Poor Harrison!

The Democracy Should be Careful.

THE CONSTITUTION of yesterday contained notice of the Brooks county democratic primary, or at least of the farce which was enacted by authority of the democratic executive committee of that county. The polls were open to both democrats and republicans, and the democrats of the county were so disgusted at the travesty that they refrained from voting, and but twelve votes were cast in the county.

The Richmond county democratic muddle is another instance of a disordered condition of county democratic organization. A mass meeting was called to settle the county's position on the senatorial question, and the result was the meeting broke up in confusion and the party was divided by the election of two sets of delegates.

The greatest care should be taken by the democratic guardians in every county—the executive committee—to prevent the possibility of anything happening to bring the party in disrepute, as such occurrences as above will have a tendency to do. If the Brooks county committee had thrown the proper restrictions around a fairly conducted primary, a nomination would have been made which would have represented the strength of the democratic vote in the county. If the Richmond county committee had called a primary instead of a mass meeting, the senatorial question would have been settled without any dissention in the party, and without any charge of the indiscriminate participation of republicans as well as democrats in the choice.

The Fulton county executive committee meets today and it should be careful to take no action that will tend to bring the party organization into disrepute. It has already been rumored that more than one of the committee are doubtful in their allegiance to the democracy, and that the first purpose of some is to serve other interests before that of the party. We are not disposed to credit this, and we believe that the committee will recognize, in its proceeding today, the important position which it holds as the protector of democratic interests and the guardian of party harmony.

EDITOR RICHARDSON, of Macon, is now engaged in receiving communications from the hysterians in Atlanta. The correspondence threatens to assume tremendous proportions. Our sympathies are with Editor Richardson.

THE senate continues to bait the public with the fisheries treaty.

The Law's Delay.

A correspondent objects to the delay in the Woolfolk case, and asks if there is no way of expediting criminal trials. He says that if a man is guilty he ought to be disposed of before his crime is forgotten by the public, while, on the other hand, if he is innocent it is unjust to keep him in jail a couple of years or so.

Under our present constitution and laws it would be almost impossible to run our criminals through on a rapid schedule. Our rule regarding continuances is very liberal, and considerable delay is sometimes caused in this way. Then, when the defendant is convicted, his motion for a new trial may come just as the term of court is drawing to a close, and the result is that the judge sets a day for hearing it during his vacation. The motion may be overruled, and in that event the writ of error may not be reached in due course in the supreme court for several months, and no matter what its fate may be, there is necessarily further delay when the case gets back to the lower court. And yet under our present laws it is possible, when there is nothing in the way, for a man to commit a murder Saturday and be put upon his trial in the superior court the following Monday, and exhaust his opportunities for delay in the course of a very few weeks. It all depends upon the continuances and the amount of business in the courts.

Any very radical changes in our criminal law, so far as trials are concerned, would make it necessary to amend the constitution, and grave doubts exist as to whether such changes would secure defendants their full rights under our theory of a fair and impartial trial.

One thing, however, could be done. Our judges could, if they felt so inclined, be very rigid in the matter of granting continuances—that is, they have in their power to stick more closely to the strict letter of the law than some of them have been in the habit of doing. This would sometimes greatly expedite a case, but it must be admitted that this way of rushing a trial would in some instances render a criminal less able to make a good defense.

Our best policy is to stand by our present system until we are certain that we have a better one to substitute for it. When a murderer spends a year or two in jail before he goes to the gallows he has no easy time; he is looking forward to his punishment, and he suffers the pangs of remorse. If he is innocent he knows that the delay prepares the public mind for his acquittal, and makes it easier for him to obtain a fair trial by a jury of unprejudiced men. It also enables him to collect evidence and bring out the strong points of his case.

Viewed from every standpoint, it will be seen that a good deal can be said in favor of the law's delay in criminal cases. Sometimes it may be provoking when people are, in an indignant mood, but we ought not to try and punish our criminals when we are in such a frame of mind. Such business is best attended to when we are ready to hear both sides and give the evidence for and against the prisoner a calm and critical consideration.

THE effort of the people of Chatham county to induce Captain W. W. Gordon to come back to the legislature, is a matter of as much interest to the state at large as it is to Chatham county. His valuable services as the chairman of the finance committee of the last house, and his experience as a member for two terms combine to make him one or the most useful men that can be selected to attend to the state's interest in the many important questions which will come before the next legislature. If returned he will hold unchallenged the position as leader of the next house.

West End Academy.

The announcement for 1888-9 of this flourishing educational institution is just from the printer's hands, and is worthy of attention. A short explanation of the organization might be interesting. The academy is incorporated. Its capital stock is about nine thousand dollars, of which West End owns nearly two-thirds and private citizens the balance. The property of the academy is well worth every dollar of the capital stock. It is governed by a board of nine trustees who hold office for three years, three trustees being elected annually on first Monday in January by the stockholders. Under the by-laws, adopted by the stockholders, vacancies in the board are filled by the remaining trustees.

By an act of the legislature, ratified by a vote of the people of West End, the mayor and council have authority to appropriate annually seventy-five per cent, if necessary, of the real estate tax to the support of the academy, which shows the interest the people take in a first-class home school for the education of their children. For several years the town contributed annually from ten to fifteen hundred dollars to the academy, tuition being one dollar per month. Beginning with the fall term, 1887, tuition was increased and the academy has been so nearly self-sustaining for a year that the town appropriated this year three hundred dollars only, or about ten per cent of the taxes from real estate, and it is confidently believed that hereafter no larger appropriation will be needed annually, unless the increased patronage of the academy should require the enlargement of the building and the employment of one or more additional teachers. As this would add to the efficiency of the school, it is desirable, especially in view of the rapidly increasing population of West End.

The academy has done more for the upbuilding of West End than any other one cause. It is not believed that it has an enemy in the community, for such a person would be an enemy to the community and to his own interests. The attention of every citizen is invited to the new catalogue, and a more cordial, earnest and united support of the school from the people, in the future than in the past, if that could be possible, is heartily invoked.

Professor Bizien is one of the finest educators and school managers in the south. He has experienced and competent assistants, every department of the academy is splendidly equipped, its future is brighter than ever and it is in very truth, as it should be, the pride and glory of West End.

A POLICEMAN IN A northern city is an autocrat. He does as he pleases, and never makes a good citizen until he is dead. One of these autocrats, Inspector Byrne, of New York, has just received a proper rebuke. It seems that Byrne made it a rule that no ex-convict should be allowed on Wall street. Several men who were recently arrested under this order were discharged by the police judge, as they could not be held. The Sun asks what right Byrne had to issue such an order, and wants to know who made him the autocrat of the city. Of course the inspector made an ass of himself. An ex-convict has the right to walk on any street that Byrne walks on, and he has as good a right to pull Byrne's nose for overstepping the bounds of his official duty as any other man has. Ex-convicts will very naturally be looked upon with suspicion, but they have some rights.

THE PRINCE OF WALES in a celebrated divorce suit was highly complimented because he "perjured himself like a gentleman." A bill just introduced in parliament will, if passed, send the next gentlemanly perjurer to jail.

BISMARCK SAYS THAT the prosperity of America is mainly due to her protective tariff, and advises Germany to adopt a similar system. Perhaps Bismarck has not heard of the Mills bill.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN" is a book that still goes marching on. Down in Brazil the emancipation of the slaves was mainly due to an editor who kept his paper red hot with abolition arguments. He did not have much success until finally he printed a translation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Then the people waked up. They cried over the story, and raised such a protest against slavery that the government was forced to abolish it.

GENERAL MAHONE PREDICTS that Virginia will go for Harrison. He says that protection will win every time. The democrats will do well to watch General Mahone.

A MAN OF TALENT needs all the advantages that an education can give him to make him a good writer. It is different with a genius. Daudet at the age of sixteen was an illiterate rustic. He went to Paris to live with his brother, who was getting a salary of fifteen dollars a month. In a few years the ignorant country youth was at the top of the literary ladder. What was the secret? Genius and work.

WITHOUT A COUNTRY.

Nelson a Fugitive from Canadian Law.

He is Discovered to Have Been Crooked at Home as Well as Abroad—His Latest Swindle.

C. C. Nelson, the flashily dressed usurer, who so successfully played his role in Atlanta, is now a fugitive from Canada as well as from the United States.

It seems that while yet a shining light in Atlanta, he became interested in the wonderful stories of Alabama development. Not only did he master the details of coal and iron in the Birmingham district, but his giant mind had scope enough to embrace the boom which had its resting place along the shores of Lake Superior. Calling to his aid the skill of an expert engraver, he was soon armed with certificates of stock, which were beauties as specimens of art. With these he appeared in Belleville, Canada. The rest of the story is thus told in the following dispatch from Trenton, Ontario:

The Missing Banker.

TRENTON, Ont., August 3.—[Special.]—C. C. Nelson, the banker late of Atlanta, and later of this and various other small Canadian towns, disappeared, from Trenton on Tuesday last, when he was discharged, no witness appearing to testify to his having brought stolen money into Canada.

Immediately after leaving the court, he told everybody that he intended to change his name and start in business somewhere in Canada, and in time live down his disgrace. He was not to be seen Wednesday, nor since has he been heard of. He has undoubtedly changed his name and started in business again, the same kind of business which compelled him to flee from Atlanta.

ON HIS TRAIL.

Yesterday a telegram was received here from Utica, asking that he be arrested and detained for having stolen a pair of diamond earrings, on which he had taken collateral security for some money loaned. Telegrams were immediately sent out by Chief Hines, and the latter himself paid a visit to the small towns hereabouts. Nelson had completely disappeared. This morning when Chief Hines returned to Trenton, there was a very angry man waiting for Nelson at the police station. He was Mr. Spence, of the banking house of Watters, Spence & Co., of Belleville.

THE OLD STORY.

Five years ago Nelson honored Bellville with a visit, accompanied by a broker named Minzes. The latter introduced Nelson as an American friend of his, who was in Canada looking out for investments. Nelson engaged Mr. Spence in conversation, talked up the battles of the south, and became so interesting that he stayed a week. Menzis went home on the eighth day of his stay. Nelson induced Mr. Spence to advance $1,300 on some shares in an Alabama iron mine, and the next day Nelson went to Toronto to pay over $6,000 from some Lake Superior copper mines he had taken a "fleece" in.

Neither Nelson or the $1,300 was ever heard of again by Mr. Spence, until Wednesday. Then the latter, with a pocket full of worthless mine shares, started for Trenton, but arrived after the bird had flown.

CROSSING THE CONTINENT.

A warrant was sworn out and put into the hands of Chief Hinds. Thus Nelson is a fugitive in Canada from American laws, is a fugitive here also. It is thought he has gone west over the Canadian Pacific. The authorities throughout the dominion have been notified.

An Open Letter to Mr. Frank P. Rice.

It is openly stated on the streets of Atlanta, and seems to be commonly believed by a large class of persons, that you are running as the candidate and have the organized support of the M. A. B. society. This you have a perfect right to do, and the gentlemen composing that society have a perfect right to support you, but, if the rumor is true, the public ought to know it, because it is undeniably true that organized support of a candidate means corresponding obligation on the part of the candidate to the organization supporting him. I call upon you to answer publicly whether this rumor is true, and whether you have made any overtures or promises, directly or indirectly, to the M. A. B. society in order to induce them to support you.

If you should answer this question, I call upon you to give an answer to the one I asked you in my last open letter, or a good reason for not doing so.

I contend before the public, that I have the right to ask you these questions, because you are a candidate for a public office, and that Mr. Carlton had the right to ask you the questions propounded by him, and that you are absolutely bound by every possible consideration to give the public an answer. The public will not permit you to screen yourself by silence. Yours truly, W. R. HAMMOND.

Atlanta, Ga., August 3d, 1888.

John H. Inman's Success.

From the New York Journal.

Mr. John H. Inman, the handsome southerner who has been prominently identified with all the big southern railroad schemes during the past few years, is said to be taking a hand in the exciting cotton deal which is now breaking the hearts and pockets of the bears on the cotton exchange. It is said that Mr. Inman really engineered the great advance in cotton, and that he has made $1,500,000 for himself and his friends out of the rise.

From the Chicago Tribune.

John H. Inman, who is by long odds the most influential leader in every southern commercial and financial interest at the north, being an active director in over 12,000 miles of southern railroad, has been treating the bears on cotton to a lively experience lately, breaking both their hearts and their pockets. Mr. Inman took hold of August cotton far below its present figures, and has calmly lifted it higher and higher till today a cotton exchange authority estimates that Mr. Inman has made at least $1,500,000 for himself and the favored few whom he invited into his bull company.

CITY NEWS NOTES.

The wife of Patrolman Tom Aldridge was thought to be critically ill at her home last night.

F. Rabennovite is not the man that was married in Judge Manning's court a few days ago. He has been married for several years.

Two moonshiners, Mulligan Howell and Cicero Findley, arrested in Pickens county by Deputies Kellogg and McLain, were placed in jail here yesterday. They were tried by Commissioner Bledsoe at Ellijay.

The young men's meeting will be held as usual tonight at 8 o'clock. The building is the coolest place in the city, and the reading room is fairly well stocked with literature. Come up. On Sunday the building will be open from 4 to 6:30 p. m. Any one will be welcome at this time.

Mr. Thomas P. Slider, who died in this city yesterday, was formerly a citizen of Yorkville, S. C., and was at one time treasurer of that state. The funeral will take place today, Rev. N. Keff Smith to officiate. Mr. Slider was a man of marked ability, and always stood high wherever he lived.

The Atlanta Piano company have put their engine and boiler in position at the factory, and the wood working machinery has been ordered from Boston, and in a few days the machinery will be in position. Mr. Cooper, the patentee of the piano, is moving the work right along, and intends to make a success of the business.

The board of stewards of Park street Methodist church, have given Rev. A. G. Wardlaw, the pastor, a month's vacation, to be spent in the Virginia mountains. Rev. J. W. Jordan, of Americus, will fill the pulpit during his absence. He is a popular and consecrated preacher, and the congregation will be pleased with him.

Since the city council withdrew its support from the Ivy street hospital, matters have been unsettled in that institution. Today, Dr. T. S. Powell announces his intention of withdrawing from the management. There are rumors to the effect that the faculty of the Southern Medical college will make a report sustaining Dr. Powell in his actions and complimenting him upon the management of the hospital. In the same report it will be stated that the college was always opposed to taking paupers into the hospital, as it was unremunerative, and that now a young physician will be put in the management of the hospital, and it will be run as an institution open to private patients.

Judge Landrum won quite a distinction at the Ninth Georgia reunion at Suwannee day before yesterday. It will be remembered that Captain Forbes's artillerymen were invited to go to the reunion. They carried a cannon along, and several members of the company and several of the old Ninth Georgia vets tried shooting at targets. Captain Forbes made a good shot, and Orderly Sergeant Bradley made one. An old veteran also made an excellent shot, but the two best shots out of the thirty or more fired were made by Judge Landrum.

ANOTHER GOOD CITIZEN GONE.

Death of Mr. William F. Peck This Morning at His Residence.

Atlanta has lost another valuable citizen. Mr. William F. Peck died, at his residence, 335 Peachtree street, this morning, at 1:30 o'clock. He was a member of the firm of M. C. & J. F. Kiser, and was a public-spirited citizen.

TALK ABOUT TOWN.

"Well, I did not suppose they had so much talk about politics in Georgia," said a northern man in conversation with a friend at the Kimball house yesterday. "I thought that this state was as certainly democratic as Texas." His friend assured him that it was, but was interrupted by the northerner, who continued: "I don't understand it at all. Anybody would think, after reading the papers, that it was a nip and tuck affair, and the interviews and statements of the politicians read very much like those from the candidates in a close district in my state—Indiana."

Judge Henderson has the queerest specimen of the finny tribe at the agricultural department which was ever seen in Atlanta or anywhere else. It is curled up in a big bottle of alcohol, and was captured off Brunswick by Mr. James Farrell, who presented it to Commissioner Henderson. An old fisherman who has caught all sorts of fish in the Brunswick waters for years past says that he has never seen anything like this specimen.

The fish is about two feet in length; as thick as an ordinary shingle, and about half as wide; a dorsal fin extends from the back of the head straight down the back to within a few inches of the tip of the tail, which is long, very slender, and tapers like that of a large rat. The head is flat, like the body, and is of about the same thickness. It is about three inches long, including the mouth, which is shaped something like the beak of a bird. The under jaw projects about the eighth of an inch beyond the upper; and holds at the tip a large, strong tooth, which stands upright in front of two large teeth, depending from the upper jaw. There are several very small teeth extending back on both sides of the jaws. The color of this queer specimen is a pale silver, and as he lies coiled up in his perennial alcohol bottle he presents the appearance of a long, slim, sickly mackerel, baring the head, tail and fin.

A number of people looked at the curiosity yesterday, but nobody could tell to what species it belonged; nobody had ever seen anything like the "What is it?"

Hon. Martin Calvin: "The Augusta exposition is getting along splendidly, and will undoubtedly prove a great success. Sixty thousand dollars of the subscription has been paid up, and the remainder will be forthcoming when called for.

The trip taken to the west by officials of the exposition and prominent Augusta gentlemen has already borne good fruit for our town. Several western men have recently invested in property down there."

The meeting of the military advisory board of Georgia has been postponed until September. The members are too busy to attend this week.

The seizures of distilleries are few and far between these days. Most of the stills are busy during these warm days mashing the juice out of apples and peaches and grapes. They will probably turn their attention to grain later in the season.

Mr. Phil Haralson: "Yes, sir, Gadsden is getting there. I have just swapped a half acre of land in the edge of Gadsden for twenty-six and a half acres of ground in the edge of Atlanta which lies just beyond the city limits in the vicinity of the East Tennessee shops. I made the trade with Mr. R. O. Randall and the papers have been recorded in accordance with law."

Three of the gentlemen who were asked to run for governor of Georgia on the republican ticket, have been heard from by Smith Easly, the colored secretary of the committee on consultation. General Longstreet says that he is in bad health, and, besides, could not think of running against Governor Gordon. Joshua Hill feels to unwell to make the race. Jesse Glenn says that he is willing to run if the committee cannot flush another dandidate. Ephraim Tweedy has not been heard from. He is probably throwing out feelers.

There is no trust among the hackmen—that is, if one has been formed they have said nothing about it. The same old rate of pay for your ride is still strictly adhered to, and the longest way around is sure to be chosen when you hire by the hour.

Cartersville has just closed a contract with a Boston company for a complete system of gas and electric lights, work to commence at once. Negotiations are also pending with two different parties for waterworks, which will doubtless be satisfactorily closed in the next few days. Strangers are reaching Cartersville on every train and the hotels are getting crowded. There is no longer any doubt as to the bright future of Cartersville. The certainty of furnaces has stimulated everything, and many new enterprises are projected and assuming shape.

Mr. Wm. Truett, a prosperous and successful miner, who owns a large interest in Colorado and Utah Silver mines, was in the city yesterday on his return to Denver, after a prospecting tour through the mining district of north Georgia. In answer to a question as to what he though about the prospects of that section, Mr. Truett replied: "There are several valuable properties around Dahlonega, and I think I shall make an investment in one of them. There is no doubt that gold is there in paying quantities, but the work that is being done there now will have to be improved upon to get the best results. I think that capital and modern machinery will give gold mining a boom, and if I can make the necessary arrangements I will see whether or not I am right in my estimate of the wealth of that section."

"Anything new to-day?" asked the reporter as he wiped the remains of a January smile from his face. "Now, young man. Why it's too much like work in this hot weather to think of the old chestnut to say nothing of what is new." And the fat man and his fan waved a sultry good-day.

"Did you ever notice how some people who never drink liquor in any form relish a Roman punch, or the other seductive forms in which the pastry cooks at first-class hotels disguise a little stimulant?" This was the question one gentleman asked his neighbor at dinner yesterday. It was at a first-class hotel and was probably brought out by the fact that a gentleman who had just finished his dessert and left the table, had evidently enjoyed his Roman punch and his English fruit pudding with wine sauce. His friend replied that he had not though about the matter before. "Well, I will tell you what I have observed," said the first speaker. "Every time I see a man that I know does not drink liquor taking dinner, I note his order from the bill of fare and if any of the dishes have brandy or wine in them I also observe how they seem to strike his sense of taste. Without exception as far as my observation has gone, these dishes are their especial favorites and a second order is generally given. It may be that the 'disguised' is what they like, but I sometimes think that it is the foundation' that strikes them so pleasantly."

Colonel T. P. Westmoreland the chairman of the committee of citizens appointed to urge the appropriation committee of house of representatives to make sufficient appropriations to finish up Hancock barracks at once, has received a letter from Congressman Stewart stating that he is doing all that can be done in the premises, but expresses a doubt about getting enough this time to finish the work. He says the importance of the place has grown very much since work was commenced and it will take more money to do the work than was at first contemplated.

It is the purpose of the government to make these barracks the best in the south, as it will be used for all the troops held in reserve for the coast from Wilmington, N. C., to New Orleans, La.

Artist W. A. Sharp, who left Atlanta for Europe six weeks ago, was taken down with fever on the voyage. His sister, Nellie, who accompanied him telegraphed from Queenstown for friends who assisted him from Liverpool to Birmingham where he now is slowly recovering. NEWS OF THE RAIL.

Gossip of the Day Among The Railroad Men.

The Rate War Has Not Yet been Inaugurated—A Delay in the Building of the Covington and Macon—Matters of Interest.

The roads and rates are still serene.

There is nothing new or startling to chronicle in the railroad situation, up to date, so far as the prospects of a rate war are concerned. No intimation has been given to the public of any immediate cut, and so far as can be learned there have been no instructions issued to the agents of the roads that are supposed to be in the line of battle where hostilities are declared.

In the meantime railroad matters are in a state of delightful uncertainty, and a very slight difficulty or misunderstanding will start the scalp knife, and rates may be going bald-headed at any time within the next ten days.

Atlanta, Atlantic and Great Western.

Colonel Fry's new road, that so far as Atlanta is concerned is full of promise, starts out under very favorable auspices, and with good prospects for early completion. Its proposed route to tidewater is through a well developed and prosperous country, and its air line to tide water will give it the prestige of a shorter mileage from this city than any other road now in operation. This, in itself, will make the road, when completed, a strong competitor for the freight and passenger business to and from the seaboard.

From Atlanta westward the possibilities offered the Atlanta, Atlantic and Great Western in the way of connections and a share for western business are first-class, and even now, before a mile of track has been laid, the gossips are busy with various projects for extensions of the road westward, or the building of extensions of roads now in operation to a connection with Colonel Fry's road at Atlanta.

To Ride on the Georgia Southern.

MACON, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—A drummer's excursion from here to Vienna will be tendered the knights of the grip sack tomorrow by the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad. This will be the first passenger train that has run over this line more than four miles out of the city, and as the Georgia Southern now promises to be the most important road in the state for developing new territory and the opening of the first really direct and distinct line to Florida, the event is being looked upon with much more than ordinary interest. The train leaves the depot of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railway at 8 o'clock a. m., and the run to Vienna will be made in two hours and twenty minutes, returning late in the afternoon. Quite a crowd is expected to go, and a great time is anticipated.

The Work Delayed.

MADISON, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—Tracklaying on the Covington and Macon, has been suspended for a few days, owing to the failure of steel rails to arrive. The rails were shipped some time ago, and should have made their appearance ere this. The track has been laid to within two miles of Watkinsville. The people of that little town are anxiously awaiting the first train; when a large barbecue will be given by the people of the place. Colonel E. C. Machen has arranged to be present. A special car from Macon is expected to run, carrying Mrs. Gould and daughter, and citizens along the line. Many people from this city will attend. Work on the line through the city is progressing finely. An immense trestle will be built near the depot, and is now being constructed.

Will Be Here Today.

The air-ship "Eli," invented and built from models by Colonel Joe White, of the Georgia road, will be in Atlanta today on its way to Chattanooga, where a trial trip will be made from the Spiritualists' camp ground on Lookout Mountain. Several railroad men are to have seats in the "Eli" on its first trip, and one or two newspaper men will probably accompany them.

The "Eli" will be shipped to Chattanooga via the Western and Atlantic today, a special baggage car having been chartered for its transportation. Everyone who cares to inspect this wonderful invention should be at the carshed this evening at 5 o'clock, as the train will leave at 5:55.

The Freight Agents.

The freight agents were in session at Birmingham yesterday. Among those present were Major G. A. Whitehead, general freight agent of the Central railroad of Georgia; Theodore Welch, division freight agent of the Louisville and Nashville; Colonel George S. Barnum, general freight agent of the Georgia Pacific, and T. F. Steele, division freight agent of the Queen and Crescent system. The Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham railroad was not represented at the meeting.

The Savannah and Western.

That part of the Central system, which, by the recent consolidation of the roads, will be known as the Savannah and Western, projected westward from Elen, will be built as soon as the Buena Vista extention to Columbus is completed. The work of permanent location of the line is being rapidly completed, and this new link in the Central's network of Georgia roads will be well under way by the close of the present year.

The Gulf and Chicago.

This is the name of the latest proposed "air line" from Chicago to the gulf. On paper it looks well, and if built according to prospectus it would cover a fine territory and command a good business. But competition is rather brisk on southbound shipments over the roads now operating in this section, and a new road would certainly have to hustle for all it secured.

Stockholders' Meeting.

The Atlanta and West Point will run a special train for the accommodation of its stockholders who desire to attend the annual meeting in this city on Tuesday night, the 7th instant. The meeting will be held at the company's office, in the Georgia railroad building; and a full attendance is confidently expected.

Coming Excursions.

There will be a grand excursion to Cumberland and St. Simon's islands on the 10th inst., and the rates which are offered will probably catch the travel. The round trip fare to Cumberland will be $6.50 and to St. Simons $5.50. The excursion will be run via the East Tennessee on a special train.

Brief Mention.

Travel was light yesterday.

Mr. W. M. Francis, who pulls the bell-cord on an Air Line train, is fighting mosquitoes at a country summer home.

Colonel John B. Peck, general manager of the South Carolina road, accompanied by his son, Major Peck, who is his assistant, were in the city yesterday.

Every Saturday, beginning today, the East Tennessee will sell round trip tickets at one price to all points in East Tennessee, including Cleveland and Morristown.

The petrified watermelon that once attracted crowds of curious people to Mann's ticket office is on exhibition in the geological department of the Cincinnati exposition.

C. H. Hudson, general manager of the East Tennessee, and T. A. Phillips, superintendent of transportation for that road, passed through the city yesterday on their way to Knoxville.

The rates which were cut in June, on meats and flour were again restored on August 1, but the markets south took advantage of the cut and are supplied with full stocks of these goods. Shipments will consequently be light for the fall months.

Tallulah Falls is enjoying a genuine boom just now and the hotels are all doing a good business. The Cliff house telegraphed to this city yesterday stating that they would take care of all their guests, even if they had to build an addition to their hotel.

Who is He?

Captain Couch and Patrolman Bob Anderson arrested a negro last night, giving his name as John Hinton. He tells a story that don't agree with itself, and the officers want to know who he is.

He first stated that his mother's name was Dilly Hinton, and that he was brought up nine miles from Warrenton Ga. Then he gave his mother another name, and said his home was in Charlotte N. C. He is about fifteen years old, nearly black, with a burnt scar on the left cheek near the nose.

A POLICE CAPTAIN

To Vindicate Himself Tonight Before Police Commissioners.

Captain Couch is Served With a Copy of Charges—The History of the Case—What the Captain Has to Say About It.

Captain Couch, the senior captain and next in rank to the chief of police, was served with a copy of charges yesterday, and the board of police commissioners meet tonight in special session to consider the matter.

It is a trifle strange that one of the hardest workers and most fearless officers that was ever on the force—and known to be such, should be subjected to this.

There are a number of strange features about it.

This is a copy of the charges and specifications:

"Charges and specifications preferred against E. F. Couch, a captain of the Atlanta police force. Charge—Neglect of duty. Specifications—In this that the said E. F. Couch, a captain of the police force, did neglect his duty by failing to prosecute —(five gentlemen, names given) for violation of the state laws as required by the code of the city of Atlanta.

"All this in the city of Atlanta, Ga., on the 27th day of June, 1888. A. B. CONNOLLY,
"Chief of Police."

The trial will take place at a special meeting of the board of police commissioners this evening at 8 o'clock, and it promises to be one of the most interesting ever before that body.

THE CASE

On the night of the 27th of June, a few minutes after 12 o'clock, Captain Couch was informed that a game of cards was going on in a room in the Kempner house. The house fronts on Whitehall and runs through to Broad street, and it was in one of these rooms overlooking Broad street that the game was being played.

Captain Couch took with him Patrolmen J. E. Hudson, W. J. Moncrief, H. L. Abbott, R. S. Ozburn and J. M. Lackey, and went to the Kempner house.

Stealing up quietly, the party of officers were surprised to find the card players playing about four feet from an open window, and in plain view from the sidewalk. The curtains were up, and the sash was up. There was no effort whatever to conceal the game, and the gentlemen playing were laughing and talking unconcernedly. The room is on the first floor of the hotel, and not more than twelve or fifteen feet from the sidewalk.

The officers listened, but could hear no talk of money, and to every appearance it was a sociable game of cards.

To be certain about it, however, the captain went with one man into the hall, and looked over the transom into the room.

They had taken their shoes off, and the players inside knew nothing of their presence. They had a plain view of the whole room. There was no money on the table, nor was money mentioned.

Putting on his shoes, the patrolmen knocked at the door.

It was opened immediately, and the party were found just as they had been playing, and with the cards in their hands.

"You're making too much noise, gentle men," remarked the captain.

"Well, I expect that's so," said one of the party.

"I'll have to make a case against you," continued the captain.

The gentlemen, all of whom are well known in Atlanta, all well known in business circles, and not one of whom is known or thought to be a sporting man, were anxious that no one be published in police court as their names might be published. One of the party was a young man engaged to be married and since married. He was particularly anxious.

The captain was obstinate, and went so far as to search the room.

When the case was called several days later, the gentlemen all plead guilty to a charge of disorder

NEWS OF THE RAIL.

Gossip of the Day Among The Railroad Men.

The Rate War Has Not Yet been Inaugurated —A Delay in the Building of the Covington and Macon—Matters of Interest.

The roads and rates are still serene.

There is nothing new or startling to chronicle in the railroad situation, up to date, so far as the prospects of a rate war are concerned. No intimation has been given to the public of any immediate cut, and so far as can be learned there have been no instructions issued to the agents of the roads that are supposed to be in the line of battle where hostilities are declared.

In the meantime railroad matters are in a state of delightful uncertainty, and a very slight difficulty or misunderstanding will start the scalp knife, and rates may be going bald-headed at any time within the next ten days.

Atlanta, Atlantic and Great Western.

Colonel Fry's new road, that so far as Atlanta is concerned is full of promise, starts out under very favorable auspices, and with good prospects for early completion. Its proposed route to tidewater is through a well developed and prosperous country, and its air line to tide water will give it the prestige of a shorter mileage from this city than any other road now in operation. This, in itself, will make the road, when completed, a strong competitor for the freight and passenger business to and from the seaboard.

From Atlanta westward the possibilities offered the Atlanta, Atlantic and Great Western in the way of connections and a share for western business are first-class, and even now, before a mile of track has been laid, the gossips are busy with various projects for extensions of the road westward, or the building of extensions of roads now in operation to a connection with Colonel Fry's road at Atlanta.

To Ride on the Georgia Southern.

MACON, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—A drummer's excursion from here to Vienna will be tendered the knights of the gripsack tomorrow by the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad. This will be the first passenger train that has run over this line more than four miles out of the city, and as the Georgia Southern now promises to be the most important road in the state for developing new territory and the opening of the first really direct and distinct line to Florida, the event is being looked upon with much more than ordinary interest. The train leaves the depot of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railway at 8 o'clock a. m., and the run to Vienna will be made in two hours and twenty minutes, returning late in the afternoon. Quite a crowd is expected to go, and a great time is anticipated.

The Work Delayed.

MADISON, Ga., August 3.—[Special.]—Tracklaying on the Covington and Macon, has been suspended for a few days, owing to the failure of steel rails to arrive. The rails were shipped some time ago, and should have made their appearance ere this. The track has been laid to within two miles of Watkinsville. The people of that little town are anxiously awaiting the first train; when a large barbecue will be given by the people of the place. Colonel F. C. Maenon has arranged to be present. A special car from Macon is expected to run, carrying Mrs. Gould and daughter, and citizens along the line. Many people from this city will attend. Work on the line through the city is progressing finely. An immense treatle will be built near the depot, and is now being constructed.

Will Be Here Today.

The air-ship "Ell," invented and built from models by Colonel Joe White, of the Georgia road, will be in Atlanta today on its way to Chattanooga, where a trial trip will be made from the Spiritual-ists camp ground on Lookout Mountain. Several railroad men are to have seats in the "Ell" on its first trip, and one or two newspaper men will probably accompany them.

The "Ell" will be shipped to Chattanooga via the Western and Atlantic today, a special baggage car having been chartered for its transportation. Everyone who cares to inspect this wonderful invention should be at the carshed this evening at 5 o'clock, as the train will leave at 5:55.

The Freight Agents.

The freight agents were in session at Birmingham yesterday. Among those present were Major G. A. Whitehead, general freight agent of the Central railroad of Georgia; Theodore Welch, division freight agent of the Louisville and Nashville; Colonel George S. Barnum, general freight agent of the Georgia Pacific, and T. F. Steele, division freight agent of the Queen and Crescent system. The Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham railroad was not represented at the meeting.

The Savannah and Western.

That part of the Central system, which, by the recent consolidation of the roads, will be known as the Savannah and Western, projected westward from Eden, will be built as soon as the Buena Vista extension to Columbus is completed. The work of permanent location of the line is being rapidly completed, and this new link in the Central's network of Georgia roads will be well under way by the close of the present year.

The Gulf and Chicago.

This is the name of the latest proposed "air line" from Chicago to the gulf. On paper it looks well, and if built according to prospectus it would cover a fine territory and command a good business. But competition is rather brisk on southbound business over the roads now operating in this section, and a new road would certainly have to hustle for all it secured.

Stockholders' Meeting.

The Atlanta and West Point will run a special train for the accommodation of its stockholders who desire to attend the annual meeting in this city on Tuesday night, the 7th instant. The meeting will be held at the company's office, in the Georgia railroad building, and a full attendance is confidently expected.

Coming Excursions.

There will be a grand excursion to Cumberland and St. Simon's islands on the 10th inst., and the rates which are offered will probably catch the travel. The round trip fare to Cumberland will be $8.50 and to St. Simons $9.50. The excursion will be run via the East Tennessee on a special train.

Brief Mention.

Travel was light yesterday.

Mr. W. M. Francis, who pulled the bell-cord on an Air Line train, is fighting mosquitoes at a country summer home.

Colonel John B. Peck, general manager of the South Carolina road, accompanied by his son, Major Peck, who is his assistant, were in the city yesterday.

Every Saturday, beginning today, the East Tennessee will sell round trip tickets at one price to all points in East Tennessee, including Cleveland and Morristown.

The petrified watermelon that once attracted crowds of curious people to Mann's ticket office is on exhibition in the geological department of the Cincinnati exposition.

C. H. Hudson, general manager of the East Tennessee, and T. A. Phillips, superintendent of transportation for that road, passed through the city yesterday on their way to Knoxville.

The rates which were cut in June, on meats and flour were again restored on August 1, but the markets south took advantage of the cut and are supplied with full stocks of these goods. Shipments will consequently be light for the fall months.

Tallulah Falls is enjoying a genuine boom just now and the hotels are all doing a good business. The Cliff house telegraphed to this city yesterday stating that they would take care of all their guests, even if they had to build an addition to their hotel.

"All this in the city of Atlanta, Ga., on the 27th day of June, 1888. A. B. CONNOLLY,

"Chief of Police."

The trial will take place at a special meeting of the board of police commissioners this evening at 8 o'clock, and it promises to be one of the most interesting ever before that body.

THE CASE

On the night of the 27th of June, a few minutes after 12 o'clock, Captain Couch was informed that a game of cards was going on in a room in the Kempner house. The house fronts on Whitehall and runs through to Broad street, and it was in one of these rooms overlooking Broad street that the game was being played.

Captain Couch took with him Patrolmen J. E. Hudson, W. J. Moncrief, H. L. Abbott, R. S. Ozburn and J. M. Lackey, and went to the Kempner house.

Stealing up quietly, the party of officers were surprised to find the card players playing about four feet from an open window, and in plain view from the sidewalk. The curtains were up, and the sash was up. There was no effort whatever to conceal the game, and the gentlemen playing were laughing and talking unconcernedly. The room is on the first floor of the hotel, and not more than twelve or fifteen feet from the sidewalk.

The officers listened, but could hear no talk of money, and to every appearance it was a sociable game of cards.

They had taken their shoes off, and the players inside knew nothing of their presence. They had a plain view of the whole room. There was no money on the table, nor was money mentioned.

Putting on his shoes, the patrolmen knocked at the door.

It was opened immediately, and the party were found just as they had been playing, and with the cards in their hands.

"You're making too much noise, gentle men," remarked the captain.

"Well, I expect that's so," said one of the party.

"I'll have to make a case against you," continued the captain.

The gentlemen, all of whom are well known in Atlanta, all well known in business circles, and not one of whom is known or thought to be a sporting man, were anxious that no case be made in police court as their names might be published. One of the party was a young man engaged to be married and since married. He was particularly anxious.

The captain was obstinate, and went so far as to search the room.

When the case was called several days later, the gentlemen all plead guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct, and paid their fines promptly.

In the meantime, Captain Couch had gone before Judge Tanner and sworn out warrants for gaming against each of the party. He watched the house for several days, worked all the while to get up evidence against the party, but was forced to the conclusion that the case was hopeless and the warrants were dismissed.

BAILIFF CRIM APPEARS.

A day or two after this Bailiff Crim, of the city court, took hold of the matter and announced his intention of pushing it.

Captain Couch refused to swear out the accusation, remarking that the case was a hopeless one, and that the party had already been made to suffer more than he thought just. Officer Moncrief was induced to swear out the accusation.

As soon as the gentlemen were informed of this, they at once began casting about to keep the matter out of court.

"Why, I would give $500 rather than have my name mentioned in that connection," said one of them.

This was the general feeling.

Two of them went to an official of the city court and laid the matter before him. They report him as saying:

"Oh, all you have to do is to plead guilty and pay the fine and costs of the court. That just ends the matter."

In the absence of their attorney, Mr. Walter Brown, the two gentlemen followed this advice and the case was settled that way.

There are only two more cases, as the fifth member of the party was shown to have taken no part whatever in the game.

These two are still in court, and will be tried soon.

So the case stands this way:

Captain Couch could have sworn out a warrant for gaming against four gentlemen and did not do so. It costs the city money to try cases, and when a case is made only to be dismissed, the city loses so much. The captain investigated thoroughly, and he was obliged to conclude that there had been no gaming. He informed himself thoroughly and then used the discretion allowed not only to the officers but to every member of the force.

On the face of it, it would seem that the captain has been mistaken. Two of those men went down to the city court and plead guilty. They claim, though, and did always, that they were not guilty. They paid the fines gladly rather than have a trial.

A gentleman, talking about the cases, said: "Jumbo Hunter is the only man on the force that uses no discretion, and the police department would be better off if he used some."

A BURGLAR SHOT AT.

Master Goode Morgan Frightens a Negro Burglar Yesterday Afternoon.

A message came to police headquarters yesterday that a burglar was known to be in a house on Spring street, from which the family were all absent.

Call Officer Joe Green and Detective Buchanan rushed out, but the thief was gone before they could reach the place.

It seems that Master Goode Morgan, living next door to the vacant house, heard the noise and telephoned to headquarters. Then he took his father's pistol and stood guard near the back gate.

For some cause or other the darky became frightened and jumped over the fence within a few feet of where the young sentinel was posted.

As he mounted the fence the plucky little fellow fired. It was a fairly good shot, but missed the negro a few inches.

The darky then ran down beside the fence and escaped. It is not thought that he made anything by his operations yesterday.

SHE DIED YESTERDAY.

The Ten-Year-Old Girl that Was Shot for a Burglar.

Lilly May Taylor, the little ten-year-old negro girl that was shot for a burglar, at her home, No. 8 Fain's alley, early last Tuesday morning, died at three o'clock yesterday morning.

Coroner Haynes held an inquest, but only a few witnesses were examined, all of them corroborating THE CONSTITUTION'S account.

The finding of the jury was that the girl came to her death from a pistol-shot wound, the pistol being in the hands of Anderson Phelps, colored, and that the shooting was criminal carelessness.

The prisoner is still held at the station-house, but a warrant will probably be sworn out this morning, and Pheips will be carried to jail.

THE DEATH OF SAM SHERWOOD.

Dr. Van Goidtsnoven Tells His Side of the Story.

Dr. Van Goidtsnoven, who attended Sam Sherwood in his last hours, says:

When at the request of the police officers, I repaired to the station house to wait on the unfortunate man, I found him in a dying condition and saw at once that no power on earth could save him. It was a case of apoplectic coma. I so pronounced it then, and do so still. There presented nothing that indicated opium poisoning. All the symptoms precluded that theory, but on the other hand strongly suggested apoplexy. I subsequently issued the death certificate, according to that judgment. Drs. K. C. Divine and T. Jeff Word, kindly assisted me in treating the case and we did all that we could to save the man's life, basing our treatment upon the diagnosis above cited. There was therefore no clashing of opinion or collision of feeling between the physicians.

"No other physicians were called in consultation or had anything to do with the case. If the statement hinting at suicide came from a physician he should have had the manhood to give the benefit of his superior judgement before giving publicity to an opinion calculated to affect the reputation of any of his colleagues.

"Mr. Sherwood did not die of opium poisoning, notwithstanding the fact that laudanum was found upon his person. It is not an uncommon thing for an old inebriate to have constantly within his reach some form of opiate to quiet his nerves, such as morphine and opium. It is fair to presume that Mr. Sherwood used laudanum with that intention, especially as he did not drink the whole of the contents, which he would likely have done had he intended to commit suicide. His threat of destroying his own life was an every day expression of his, according to the statement of his friends and intimate acquaintances, and no attention was ever paid to it until that day upon which he met his death, and laudanum was accidentally found upon his person. His death was caused by apoplexy, superinduced by alcoholism and sun heat.

"Under the circumstances, I cannot admit that the so-called friends of the deceased should find fault at my issuing the death certificate, according to my diagnosis of the case, instead of writing down opium poisoning. It is no act of friendship to a man's memory or to his relatives to stamp him with suicide. Fidelity to my profession, and justice to the dead and to the living, prompted me otherwise."

JUDGE STRONG'S FIRST RACE.

An Old Politician's Beginning as an Office-Holder.

"Judge Strong's first race for office was occasioned by the creation of Fulton county," said an ancient citizen at the courthouse yesterday.

"About 1853," said he, "Judge John Collier got a bill through the legislature creating the county of Fulton. Atlanta was growing fast, and the people complained of having to go to Decatur to attend court. The increase of business called for a new county, but at the same time there was an under-current of politics at work for the establishment of a new county, the thought being that as DeKalb was a pronounced democratic county, the making of the new one would be to the advantage of that party, inasmuch as it was deemed certain that Fulton as well as DeKalb would vote democratic. A full ticket for county offices was put in the field by both whigs and democrats, but the result proved that the democrats were overwhelmingly defeated. This was the advent of Judge Strong into the politics of Fulton county. In 1855 Judge Strong, then in the city council, began to advocate doing away with the lard oil lamps by which Atlanta was lighted, and the use instead of gas. There was much opposition to this departure, and there were many who thought the city should not aid the enterprise. The city took $20,000 stock in the gas company, and there has accrued to the treasury enough money of the appreciation and profits of the investment to aid public schools, parks, etc."

Judge Strong, entering politics to lead a forlorn hope, has remained in the front ever since, and is today one of the most popular men in the county.

The company will hold their first business meeting since their return from camp, on next Tuesday night, at which time the committee appointed by Captain Milledge to prepare appropriate resolutions touching the Newnan trip will submit their report.

The committee consists of Lieutenant C. W. Smith, Secretary George M. Hope, Quartermaster J. S. Dosier, Sergeant John L. Beatie and Private C. C. Mason.

An Increase of $80,000 in Two Years, and More Coming.

There are a great many dry counties in Georgia.

Nevertheless, the consumption of liquor is largely on the increase.

This would appear, at least, from the figures in the office of Revenue Collector Crenshaw.

In 1887 the internal revenue collections were $336,705.86. For the year closing June 31, 1888, the collections had increased to $380,673.22. This shows an increase in one year of $43,967.36.

Nor is this all.

The collections for July just closed, the first month of the fiscal year of 1889, amount to $20,483.86. The collections for the same period last year were $15,158.68.

"If the ratio of increase for July," said Collector Crenshaw, "is kept up for the balance of the year, it will show an increase of $75,000."

Since Collector Crenshaw took charge of the office, three years ago, the collections have steadily increased. "The collections," said the collector, "are principally from whisky, notwithstanding the fact that as collections increased, the state continued to grow drier. Of the collections for July of 1888, $15,711.30 was raised from the tax of ninety cents a gallon on whisky against $12,173.40 for the corresponding month of 1887, thus showing that while collections from all sources have increased, that on whisky of itself went up $3,537.90."

"How do you explain this great increase?"

"One way to explain it is to say that as local option extends it drives foreign whisky out of the market, and increases the demand on local distilleries. They pay up their internal revenue licenses, and being thus freed from the surveillance of the United States officials, the distillers are willing to assume the risk of detection by the state officers. When I went into office the collections were $304,384.29. The local distillers doubled in number the first year. There are more distilleries now in operation than ever before in summer time. There is always a lull in distilleries in summer, because the water is too warm to make good whisky, but brightens up in the winter."

It is a remarkable showing that the collector's figures make.

In 1886 $304,381.29.
In 1887 $336,705.86.
In 1888 $380,673.22.
In 1889 $75,000 estimated increase on the figures of 1888.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE.

For quick raising, the Royal Baking Powder is superior to all other leavening agents. It is absolutely pure and wholesome and of the highest leavening power. It is always uniform in strength and quality and never fails to make light, sweet, most palatable and nutritive food. Prof. H. A. Mott, U. S. Government Chemist, after examining officially the principal baking powders of the country, reported:

"The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have so found it in many tests made both for that company and the United States Government.

"Because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper proportions of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.

Rev. C. M. Anderson, of North Carolina, Cured of Sciatica.

MORGANTON, N. C., October 15, 1887.—Hunnicutt Rheumatic Cure Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Gentlemen: For some three years I have been a great sufferer from Sciatica and Muscular Rheumatism. I tried a number of good doctors and many remedies, but failed to get relief. About three months ago, when I had become so enfeebled from loss of sleep and severe pains, that I had about given up all hope of recovery, my attention was directed to your Rheumatic Cure, and although I had but little idea of being benefited thereby, I determined to give it a fair trial, and before I had finished the second bottle I felt some relief—I slept more and was more restful. I am now taking the tenth bottle, but am able to sleep all night, and feel much refreshed in the morning; and while mine has been a terrible stubborn case, it has yielded gradually to the treatment, and I am very hopeful that in a few more weeks I shall be able to dispense with my crutches and walk erect without any pain. I do most cheerfully recommend the H. R. C. to those who are suffering from the dread and painful effect of this most dreadful disease. I cannot express the deg ee of gratitude I feel to you, gentlemen, for your kindness and the very great service you have rendered me in my afflictions. I pray God's blessings upon you in your efforts to relieve the afflicted. Very truly, C. M. ANDERSON.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, August 3.—The stock market today was dull and of a negative character all the way out, but was rather heavy in the forenoon, recovering later in the day. Speculation is just now in a waiting condition, as there has been a very extensive realizing by large interests, and this giving encouragement to bears would-be buyers are for the moment holding off, and prices drag and fluctuations are confined to the smallest fractions in most of the list, while dealings develop but little feature. Some selling by the foreigners at the opening this morning gave the heavy to weak tone noticeable in the early dealings, and this induced some short selling by the traders, who were once more the principal makers of quotations. Reports from the west in regard to crops was of an unfavorable nature, damage by heat and storms to the growing corn and wheat being the burden of most of them, and they had a certain influence upon the course of prices, although such advices are now generally looked upon with suspicion on the street. Vanderbilts still continue to be the chief bull card, and Michigan Central today made another spurt in an upward direction, though it was all over in an hour and a portion of the improvement afterward lost. Early sellers were covering up toward the close, which changed the tone of the market from weak to firm, and resulted in some appreciation of values, but outside of the stocks mentioned above and a few specialties, among which Minneapolis and St. Louis was the most conspicuous, the movements in the list were generally insignificant. Sales aggregated 120,600 shares. The final changes are irregular and sor slight fractions only, except for Michigan Central, which scored a gain of 1⅞ per cent.

Exchange active but weaker at 486@488. Money easy at 1@1½. Subtreasury balances: Coin $107,355,000; currency, $20,755,000. Governments dull but steady; 4s 127½; 4½s 107½. State bonds entirely neglected.

NEW YORK, August 3—Hubbard, Price & Co., in their circular today, say: The manipulation of August contracts continues, and the opening of today's market brought forward ready buyers at advanced rates. The demand was kept up well during the day, and some 12,000 bales contract changed hands at improving prices. Foreign shorts continue their preparations to ship cotton from Liverpool to this market, and our private advices from abroad name, besides 13,000 bales shipped, an additional amount of 17,000 bales cotton ready for shipment next week if prices continue as at present. Less favorable crop reports and fear of a drouth in Texas have again strengthened the new crop positions, and free buying orders advanced the fall and winter months 2@3 points. At the advance, however, liberal selling, especially on the part of our German houses, took place and prices closed at a loss of 2@3 points from the highest.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, August 3—The morning markets on change were comparatively dull, the fluctuations in most pits narrow and prices generally lower. There was nothing in the receipts or the news to materially affect trading, and as buyers held off it was easy to bring about a decline on light selling. Wheat was very weak after the unloading of yesterday and opened lower for September at 82½c, but rallied to 82⅞c before 11 o. m. At thirty minutes before the close of the session wheat was ¼c lower than the close of yesterday. Today there was less selling and no disposition to buy for a rally. The range on September was within ⅝c and the best point of the day was ¾c under the closing price of yesterday. Wheat closed weak and lifeless, ¾c under yesterday and a ¼c better than the opening price.

Corn was fairly active at times and very dull at others. There were no striking features. There was some pounding of October, and it was thought it was done in order to buy September to a better advantage. The market held up pretty well under the early selling, the lowest point being but ⅜c below the close on Thursday, and the rally caused by buying by shorts took the price above the opening figures.

Oats were an exception and sold at higher prices. The ladvance was about ½c for all futures. The strength was due to light receipts and very wet weather.

Good business was transacted in provisions, but the weak feeling at the close yesterday was continued. The market for hogs was weaker and prices lower. Holders of cured product evinced more disposition to sell. Buyers were less inclined to buy and a nervous and irregular market was noted. Pork advanced moderately shortly after the opening but then broke 35c and finally closed 15c below yesterday's last sales. Lard was weaker and despite the purchase of 3,750 tierces for export, prices declined 10@12½c and the market closed tame. Short ribs were sold freely by strong operators and September broke from 8.40 to 8.17½, but closed at 8.25.

THEY MEET TODAY

To Set the Political Ball in Motion.

The Question of Primary vs. Mass Meeting to be Definitely Passed Upon.

In obedience to the call of Chairman Hubert C. Culberson, the Fulton county democratic executive committee will meet today at 12 o'clock in the courthouse.

The object of the meeting is to indicate the manner in which the candidates for the legislature shall be nominated, and to fix a date for the nomination.

The best public impression is that a primary election will be ordered by the committee, though in certain quarters a feeling prevails that a mass meeting should be called.

It is barely possible that a fight will be made in committee against the holding of a primary, though of course nothing is definitely known in reference to this matter.

A close political observer remarked yesterday: "If the committee should order a mass meeting there will be two tickets in the field beyond a doubt and the ticket put out by the mass meeting will be badly beaten—that's all."

Mr. I. S. Mitchell, vice-chairman of the committee, said yesterday:

"I am strongly in favor of calling a primary election, and I think that the 18th of this month will be a good time to hold it."

Mr. Mitchell is in favor of holding only one primary.

Mr. Josiah Carter, another prominent member of the committee, is in favor of ordering a properly guarded primary election, and thinks that one primary will be sufficient to nominate the candidates for the house and the candidate for the senate.

It is understood that Chairman Culberson favors the holding of two primaries—one for the house and one for the senate.

Captain Brotherton stated yesterday that a primary will probably be called for about the 10th of this month.

The committee is a large one, and everything points to a full attendance today.

THE WEATHER MARKET.

Points About Yesterday's Fluctuations—The Probable Result.

It is pleasant in these days of perspiration and palm leaf fans to contemplate the impossibility of cornering the weather. Every day brings information of the formation of some new trust or combine, the latest being that which has tied up the jute bagging crop and put cotton growers in the nine-hole, with an added cost already of nearly five cents per yard on this necessity, with prospects for a further rise first-class.

But there is no danger of the organization of a weather trust. In fact, it won't do to trust.

A review of the weather market for the past few days shows a uniform tendency on the part of the bull manipulators to crowd it to the limit of the register, but the bears will have their turn in a day or two, if the signal service can be depended upon. The weather in the northwest, which can be depended upon for the worst variety the year round, is said to be bearish, and fluctuations of several points are reported by telegraph. The ulster is not yet in demand, but there is no guarantee that it will not soon be needed.

The market here in Atlanta has suffered but little from these reports from the northwest, and fluctuations have all been within a narrow limit, with the record ranging from ninety to ninety-four for first class lot, and middling is quoted at from 60 to 75. A slight bear movement was noticeable last night just before the sun went down, the rumor of a cold wave having been started by the bureau of thermometer statistics and this caused a decline of several points, a faint breeze also assisting in the reaction.

It did not last long, however, for the bulls were determined to hold their own, and at the early evening session, on the first call, they had their coats off and were perspiring as freely as ever.

Yesterday's changes were for fractional amounts, but today's market will probably develop some startling changes from the close last evening. There are indications that it will storm, and atmospheric disturbances of an electric nature usually depress the market.

There are several job lots of prime north west cool waves due here, and as they have all been sold it is probable that the market will suffer, and the thermometer registers a decline of several points.

As has been previously remarked, do not put too much trust in these rumors., but keep your furs in readiness, and your credit at the ice factory free from doubt.

EXPRESSIONS ABOUT THE HEAT.

"It is hot enough here," said Judge Strong yesterday, "but if you were to go to Augusta or Macon and then come back to Atlanta, you would think you were in an ice box."

Deputy Sheriff Perkerson, who attended the reunion of the Ninth Georgia Artillery at Suwanee, says that if Atlanta's heat is 94° then it must be 100° in the northwest corner of the spring at Suwanee.

The following is the expression of a gentleman suffering from the heat: "Man that is born in hot weather is of few days and full of trouble; in the morning he filleth his canteen with aqua pura, in the evening he dieth in his agony; however, if he appliethh his mouth to the bung-hole of a whisky barrel, his cup of happiness runneth over."

WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

Taking Care of Children While the Mothers Are at Work.

The regular weekly meeting of the Woman's Christian association was held yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the home, No. 49 West Peters street. The home was reported to be in a very flourishing condition.

The institution was organized in 1885 on Marietta street, having as its object the furnishing of a home for women and children until they could get employment. The children are instructed in industrial pursuits, and as good an education in the primary branches as could be afforded is given them. The children of women who have to work for a living are kept here while the mothers are at work. Another object of the association is to afford a home for old women who are unable to work.

Since its institution, the home has received in all about one thousand inmates; and at present there are thirty-five persons receiving the benefits of the association. Several are sick, and will be transferred to the King's Daughters' hospital as early as possible.

The association is at present trying to raise money to purchase a cow for the use of the children, who need milk.

Meetings of the association are held every Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, at the home, No. 49 West Peters street, and all the ladies of Atlanta are cordially invited to be present at these meetings.

A NEW TRIAL GRANTED.

Elbert Ware Will Have Another Chance for Life.

Elbert Ware will have another trial.

On the night of the county prohibition election Charnell Hightower, a member of the Young Men's Prohibition club, was struck by a stone thrown by some one in a crowd of negro paraders. He died next morning. The crime was fastened on Elbert Ware, and he was duly tried and convicted. There was a good deal of political feeling surrounding the case, and Ware's attorneys felt that he was entitled to another chance for his life. Accordingly Messrs. N. J. and T. A. Hammond appeared before Judge Richard H. Clark and presented arguments why a new trial should be had. The judge thereupon issued the following order:

The State of Georgia vs. Elbert Ware. Verdict, voluntary manslaughter. Motion for new trial, Fulton Superior Court.—After hearing and considering the above motion, which, by order taken in term, was to be heard and determined in vacation, it is ordered that said motion be granted, the verdict set aside, and a new trial had, on the ground that the evidence in said case is of such a character that the principles of justice, in my judgment, require another investigation.

It is ordered that this judgment be entered on the minutes of Fulton superior court.

Judge S. C. Presiding.

A CARD

To Teachers, Physicians and Parents.

Deformities of the spine and legs are so frequently met with among children that it becomes an important duty to parents to ascertain the causes that tend to produce them. The school room is responsible for considerable mischief in this direction; small children are often obliged to sit on seats so high that their feet cannot touch the floor. We have just examined—and wish every teacher would examine—Singer's Adjustable School Desk at Boles & Bruckner's, Nos. 6 and 8 Marietta street. Its first and great advantage is in securing any height of seat or desk needed in the same desk, and its second advantage is in its great strength and consequent durability. Miss Seward is using some of these desks in her school and she informed the writer that they give entire satisfaction. They were introduced months ago into all the graded schools of Asheville, N. C., and into Dr. Pearce's Female college, of the same place, into the schools at Durham, N. C., Memphis, Tenn., Cincinnati, Ohio, and into many other schools throughout the country; and it might be well for our school authorities to look carefully into this matter and see if the Singer-Adjustable Desk is not the desideratum in this line. May be it would be wise to supersede or even burn old-fashioned, unadjustable desks, though they be new, if they be the cause, in many instances, of spinal curvatures, paralysis of the lower limbs, and weak eyes. Pause; reflect. A TEACHER.

THE TELEPHONE.

A Few Hints That Will be of Great Benefit to Both the Operator and Subscriber.

Wonderful progress has been made in the manner of transmitting messages from one part of the city to another, and even from city to city in the past ten years, and it is very difficult to imagine what will be the advancement in the next ten years. If twenty years ago you had said to your neighbor that you would be able to sit in your room and talk with him fifty miles in another city, he would have unhesitatingly called you an idiot or a fit subject for the lunatic asylum. Yet one of the largest enterprises of the present day is the operation of the telephone system, and by the way, one of the most perplexing of the whole category of profession. For instance, the many calls, ladies not excepted, demands and threats of being reported to the general manager when, in reality, it is oftener than otherwise not the fault of the office operator, but the person wishing to use the telephone, not being posted as to how to make his calls. Yet they hello away, and, if they can't both hear and see the answer, a volume of threats and a cloud of thunder is hurled at the operator, which works him up to such a pitch that his nerves are all unstrung, so all hands get out of sorts. By following these instructions much time and annoyance can be avoided. When you go to the telephone you will simply say 28 on 572; the bell rings. You then say send me six bottles Dr. Woolley's Invigorine, which relieves weak nerves, kidney complaints, dyspepsia, constipation, as well as the many troubles incident to the change of life, which is a great blessing to woman. Delays are dangerous and every one should be careful to look well into the matter.

CLARENCE ANGIER, GENERAL AGENT

Standard Accident Insurance Company, 15 North Pryor Street—Sound Assets of Over $ 000.00.

W e pleasure in calling attention to the semi-annual statement of the Standard Accident Insurance company, which appears in another column.

This company has the largest paid in cash capital ($200,000) of any purely accident American company. Mr. D. M. Ferry, the well known and wealthy seed merchant of Detroit, is president.

This company is writing an immense accident business, and highly merits the patronage received. Its strong features are: First. The undoubted solvency and wealth, over $436,000. Second. The liberal terms of paying indemnity for fifty-two weeks, while other accident companies pay for only twenty-six weeks. Third. The face of policy is paid for death, or loss of both eyes, both hands, both feet, or a hand and foot, and one-third of policy is paid for loss of one hand or one foot, or for temporary disabling accidental injury $5 per week on each $1,000 of insurance. Ten thousand dollars is limit. Fourth. No restriction as to travel. Fifth. Pays for injuries received in sport or athletic exercise. Sixth. Lower rates in "select" class than any other good accident company. The "select" class includes merchants, bankers, lawyers, doctors, commercial travelers, clergymen, accountants and others of like occupation, and the rate is only $4 per $1,000 a year; other good companies ask $5 per $1,000.

Under Mr. Angier's management in Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee, a very large business has been written. Nearly every man now carries an accident policy. Below will be found small list of the policyholders of the "Standard" in Atlanta:

R. B. Bullock	$10,000	Dr. R. B. Ridley	$10,000
Frank E. Block	10,000	Joseph Thompson	10,000

Sound assets of over $42,000,000. We take pleasure in calling attention to the semi-annual statement of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., which appears in another column. This great life company is over forty-three years old, has over forty-two million dollars of sound assets, and issues the best and plainest life contract ever offered. The "Tontine" estimates, (which are a delusion and a snare, as many have found to their cost) but guarantees results, and writes them in the face of policy—so plainly that any one can read and understand the contract. Dividends all paid annually, commencing the second year, (most company's begin the third year, when they pay any at all) and the dividends are larger than any other company, thus making the policy cost less money than any other. Dividends can be used to decrease the cost each year, or to purchase additional insurance each year.

The Mutual Benefit is the only company that guarantees a cash value to the policy each year, guarantees the amount that will be loaned on the policy, each year, and guarantees the extended years insurance, incase of lapse, each year, and guarantees the amount of paid up insurance, each year.

Many of Atlanta's best merchants, who have thoroughly examined the company and the features of the policy, pronounce it the best company and contract ever offered. Below will be found partial list of policy holders of the Mutual Benefit in Atlanta:

R. B. Bullock, W. A. Hemphill, Jacob Haas, T. S. Lewis, D. H. Dougherty, W. R. Joyner, John M. Green, Zach Castleberry, James M. Wilson, J. C. Wilson, Charles O. Tyner, F. J. Cooledge, A. F. THE PATENT
WIRE GAUZE OVEN DOOR
IS THE LATEST IMPROVEMENT ON THE

It produces Practical Results in Baking and Roasting never before attained in any Cooking Apparatus, and will Revolutionize the Present Methods of Cooking.

ITS THEORY

Is that all Food, baked or roasted, should be cooked in fresh air freely admitted to the oven. This is done by discarding the close oven door heretofore used and substituting for it a door containing a sheet of Wire Gauze nearly as large as the door itself.

Through this Gauze Door the AIR FREELY CIRCULATES, facilitating the process of cooking, and producing food that is unequaled in flavor and nutrition, and actually cooked with less consumption of fuel than in an oven with a closed door.

It makes an enormous saving in the weight of meat.

It also Produces LARGER LOAVES OF BREAD, requires less attention from the cook, and promotes the health of the family by the SUPERIOR QUALITY OF THE FOOD COOKED IN IT.

OPINION OF AN EXPERT.

MRS. MARY S. WELCH, Teacher Domestic Economy, Iowa State University, says: "My deliberate judgement is that the oven of the Range as compared with others, is not only more equally heated in every part. Front as well as rear—but as a result of its superior ventilation the food placed therein is better cooked, while retaining a sweeter flavor, and a larger proportion of its best juices. I find, also, that the consumption of fuel in this Range is much less that any other for same work.

ARP AT CHAUTAUQUA.

The Georgia Philosopher to Lecture Tonight

On the Subject of "Fudging"—His Best Lecture—Fine Music By Rogers's Band—Tomorrow at Chautauqua.

Bill Arp will lecture at Chautauqua tonight. This bare assertion ought to be sufficient to insure him an audience of a thousand people. Major Smith enjoys the reputation of being the greatest southern humorist and philosopher. His writings are read and re-read, copied and re-copied in every state in the union, and to hear him is a genuine treat. The Chautauqua management, in deference to the wishes of people from every section, have induced Major Smith to address the people at Chautauqua, which he will do tonight. He will arrive on the one o'clock train from Cartersville and will go direct to the Chatauqua, and tonight at 8 o'clock he will deliver his new and matchless lecture, entitled "Fudging." This lecture is one of the best, if not the best, lectures that Major Smith has ever delivered. It is brimful of the most delicious humor, and is just such a lecture as Bill Arp only is able to deliver.

This has been a great week at Chautauqua, and one that will be remembered with pleasure by all who have been present at the lectures and readings each day. It is but proper that such a week should be closed by one of Georgia's most gifted sons, and it will be with a feeling of just pride, that the people will turn out to night to do Major Smith honor. He has merited a place high in respect among the most intellectual people of the south, by his sound logic and chaste humor, and holding such a place of distinction justly merits the ovation which is always accorded him.

One cannot better spend tonight and tomorrow than by going down to Chautauqua this evening, hearing the concert by Rodger's band, listening to an hour's talk by Bill Arp and remaining over Sunday services at Chautauqua. Sunday is always an interesting day at Chautauqua, and should be enjoyed by every one who can possibly leave the city for a day.

Let everybody turn out tonight and give Major Smith the welcome to Chautauqua which he so richly deserves, and show him that although other states may vie with us in paying honor to him, they cannot compare with his native state in her love and devotion for him.

EVERY MAN who takes an interest in housekeeping economy will be delighted with the results of a fair trial of PEARLINE WASHING COMPOUND. It is economical time and labor saving, reduces wear and tear, and relieves many a woman's tasks of drudgery.

A Liberal Proposition.

If the graded schools of Atlanta will take 700 of Bigger's Adjustable school desks—the number of desks required I understand for the new buildings—I will furnish them at the same figure per desk that they are paying the company with which they have made or may be about to make contract.

Moreover, I will deposit with Lowry & Co's bank $2,100 in money which I will bind myself to leave there one year, and if at the end of that time the desks we shall furnish shall not be as firm and strong as any other school desks in Atlanta which have been used for the same length of time then will I turn over the aforesaid sum of money to the school committee for the use of the public schools.

Ye Poor Sufferers of Rectal Diseases,

But come and investigate the merits of a perfectly painless system of RECTAL TREATMENT as practiced by me, and learn to shun and abhor the antiquated method of the knife, which either kills right out or makes the victims of the cruel system suffer the pangs of the damned while life lasts.

Hundreds of patients have been under my treatment in this city for piles, protruding and bleeding, as well as internal piles, without one moment's loss of time from their business, and with infallible success in every instance.

The same happy results have accompanied my treatment for all other rectal diseases and

STILL GROWING.

More Digests Received at the Comptroller-General's Office.

The digests from the various counties continue to come in at the comptroller-general's office.

And they continue to show a gratifying increase over the returns of last year.

Yesterday Effingham returned $981,784, an increase of $48,222; Meriwether sent in $1,892,-834, an increase of $58,068; and the digest from Towns footed up $342,780, showing an increase of $15,544.

This shows a splendid gain for the county of Towns.

Richmond county came up with $22,156,890, an increase of $1,278,890.

The net increase of the counties which reported yesterday sums up $1,401,154.

One hundred and two counties have sent in digests up to date.

The aggregate net gain in these counties over last year is $8,050,242.

There are thirty-five counties yet to be heard from.

Fulton will show an increase of over two millions.

And the outlook is that the increase in the remaining thirty-four counties will run the net gain in the state up to considerably more than $10,000,000, the amount of increase which Comptroller Wright predicted for the state several days ago.

We would be pleased to know of a man or woman who has never had headache or been subject to constipation. As these seem to be universal troubles a little advice may be in order. Why should persons cram their stomachs with nauseating purgative pills ect. which sicken and debilitate when such a pleasant and sterling remedy as Prickly Ash Bitters will act mildly and effectively on the liver, kidney, stomach and bowels, and at the same time tone up and strengthen the whole system, causing headache, constipation and all such distressing evils to quickly disappear.
